OFFERS PROPOSALAdministration Suffers Set-

WASHINGTON, April 10.—A Federal Reserve Board recommendation to eliminate fixed marginal requirement from the stock market control bill was submitted to the Senate Banking Committee in executive session today by Senator Glass (Dem., Virginia).

Glass submitted to the committee on behalf of Eugene Black, Governor of the Reserve Board, a proposal to place complete jurisdiction over margins extended by brokers with the proposed Federal Securities Exchange Commission, which would regulate the exchange under the bill as it now stands.

Black's plan also would give the Federal Reserve Board power to lay down minimum marginal requirements for loans by member banks on stock market securities.

The Reserve Board has this power already under the banking act of 1933 with relation to banks that are rediscounting with the Reserve System. Many banks, however, are now in a condition to escape this supervision because their excess reserves make it possible for them to engage large operations without being to the Reserve System for help.

The committee adopted the controversial section of the control bill relating to securities of brokers and dealers activities, permitting the regulatory body to lay down rules governing the subject. The segregation section as approved would direct the regulatory body to set up regulations governing trading for their own account by brokers and exchange members. It would not prohibit trading by brokers, as the original bill did.

Roosevelt's Help Sought.

Congressional leaders of the plan to place the Federal Trade Commission in charge of the stock exchange today looked to President Roosevelt for support in retaining this proposal.

Friends of the proposal are considering the advisability of holding the Fletcher-Rayburn market control bill in the Senate Banking Committee until the President returns to Washington.

The Senate group upset the plan of its authors yesterday with a 10-to-5 vote in favor of a plan by Senator Glass, Virginia, which would set up a separate independent commission control the stock exchanges.

This was said to be in line with proposals first put forward by the New York and other exchanges. Glass said, however, he had not even heard the plan suggested by Richard Whitney, president of the New York exchange, and added: "My proposition arose out of an aversion to having the Federal Reserve System connected with it in any way. The Stock Exchange had nothing in the world to do with it, and I doubt that he influenced a single vote in the committee."

"Glad to Abolish Exchange." Glass added that he personally would be "glad to abolish the exchange." One of the builders of the Federal Reserve System, he objected to proposals that would turn marginal provision control over to the Reserve Board, leaving the rest with the Trade Commission.

Friends of Trade Commission control felt that with Roosevelt's influence for this plan, which he has supported from the outset, they might be able to reverse the committee's action. Half the votes for the creation of an independent regulatory body were cast by Democrats.

Others among the bill's supporters predicted that, regardless of the committee's action, the House and Senate would vote to leave jurisdiction over the exchanges with the Trade Commission and the Reserve Board.

ISTANBUL, April 10.—Samuel Insull underwent an operation in an Istanbul jail infirmary today for the removal of an abscess on his left thumb. The regular prison physician performed the operation.

While United States authorities went ahead with plans for Insull's return to Chicago to stand trial for embezzlement and larceny in connection with the collapse of his public utility enterprises, his lawyers here insisted they had not abandoned hope.

Some saw in a Turkish legislative move for an explanation of the Government's handling of the Insull case the influence of the Insull legal staff. Samuel S. Brey, independent member of the Chamber of Deputies, raised a threat of possible further delay with the demand for an explanation.

At Ankara he filed an interpellation calling on the Minister of Justice to supply particulars.

United States Ambassador Robert P. Skinner said he was still considering putting Insull aboard the American Export Line ship, Executive, which leaves Istanbul tomorrow, but it is probable Insull would be taken aboard at some other port shortly.

Insull's attorneys visited him early today and told him they were considering appealing to the State Council, Turkey's highest judicial body, against his extradition.

Insull, apparently, is without funds. His lawyers have not been paid. The proprietor of one of the hotels where Insull stayed when he first departed from the Greek tram freighter Maloits, is showing Insull's unpaid bill.

TRADE COMMISSION PRODUCES CHECKS

Chicagoan, Testifying at

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Harley L. Clarke, chairman of the board of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and president of the Utilities Light and Power Co., could not explain in detail to the Federal Trade Commission today why the page noting payment March 6, 1928, of $189,500 to the St. Louis law firm of Fordyce, Holliday & White was missing from the light and power company's ledger.

He identified a canceled check for this amount and said that it was for legal work in connection with the reorganization of the St. Louis Coke and Iron Co. and for some work for the Laclede Gas Light Co. T. M. Tingley, an attorney counsel for the commission in its public utility investigation, brought out on the same day the law firm received a fee of $50,000 for its work for the Laclede company.

Later, in his testimony, Clarke was again unable to give any explanation why the page showing payment of $771,000 to an unidentified law firm in connection with the power and light company's acquisition of the Indianapolis Light and Power Co. was missing from his company's ledger.

Law Firm's Bill Missing.

The Trade Commission investigators were unable to find the original bill submitted by the St. Louis law firm to the Utilities Power & Light Co. The duplicate statement, which was not received, was as follows:

"In full service rendered in connection with the St. Louis Coke & Iron Co. reorganization, acquisition of stock, litigation, etc., $189,500."

Asked why the page noting this payment was missing from his company's ledger, Clarke said that he did not know. He said that it was customary for his companies to keep looseleaf ledgers and that he could not explain why this page had been taken out. He said a valuer had been made for the original bill submitted by the law firm.

"This fee," he explained, "covered negotiations running over two years. It covers all the expenses of other things done for the company. There were a lot of stockholders' suits to be settled and many lawsuits to be compromised or got out of the way before we could regularize."

Fee Whittled Down.

"Was the amount of the fee disputed?" Tingley asked.

"A larger fee was asked, which we thought was too high," he answered. "As a general rule we dispute all legal bills."

He said that perhaps the "etc." in the bill represented work for the Laclede Gas Light Co.

He denied emphatically that all or any part of the fee represented the acquisition of stock by himself or Sam W. Fordyce, a member of the firm.

"Did any part of this fee represent payment for lobbying against the Walsh resolution, under which this investigation is proceeding?" Tingley demanded.

"No, sir," Clarke emphatically declared. Later, he said that the $30,000 fee paid in the Laclede case had no bearing on the Walsh resolution which was pending early in 1928.

Services for Franchises.

The Laclede bill by the law firm stated that it covered services for litigation, acquisition of stock and "franchises."

"How many franchises were involved?" the commission counsel demanded.

"There was one voluminous opinion," Clarke replied. "Most of the fee was for work on this opinion." He also testified that while there are many law suits threatened, he didn't think any were taken to court.

MOVE TO COMPROMISE ON COUNTY WATER CO. FAILS

Deadlock in Board of Equalization Over the Assessment of Mains.

An effort to compromise the assessment for taxation of water mains of the St. Louis County Water Co. failed in the County Board of Equalization today. C. E. Juiz, general manager of the company, acceded to a request of board members to present on Friday a sworn statement of the value of the mains.

" Didn't the state public utilities commission help reduce the rates?" Tingley inquired.

"The state utilities commissions have been very helpful," Clarke replied. "They have reduced rates when they were too high and increased them when they were too low. In general, I don't think any utility which has any complaint against state commissions."

Asked if the state public utilities commission helped reduce the rates? Tingley inquired.

"Yes, it has," Tingley said.

"Considerably less," Clarke answered. "That's the reason I didn't exercise the option."

REPORTERS AGREE ROOSEVELT HAS BEEN POOR FISHERMAN

Listen to Bulletins Announcing Capture of Whale, But Fail to Find It on Yacht.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., April 10.—President Roosevelt remained over today near Gun Cay, an island in the Bahamas, sending out new fish stories.

White House correspondents asked for the following report to White House newspaper men here through Marvin H. McIntyre, presidential secretary:

"After you all started on your adventurous return voyage, the President, Herman Gray, Gus Gennrich and I went fishing and took about 50 mackerel and snappers."

Gray is a fishing guide from Florida, and Gennrich is a bodyguard of the President.

White House correspondents have agreed with Mr. Roosevelt's son, Elliott, that the President has been an unlucky fisherman so far.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Administrator, with Donald Richberg, general counsel of the NRA, accompanied the base here to the President on his return to land Thursday. Johnson and Richberg will go back to Washington with Mr. Roosevelt. The President expects to be in Washington by Friday afternoon for the regular Cabinet meeting.

Newspaper men who interviewed him aboard the yacht Nourmahnala yesterday off Gun Cay in the Bahamas refused to accept "press bulletins" supported by all the members of the party that the President had pulled in a sperm whale with a three-inch line.

Mr. Roosevelt read the bulletins. One said he had landed the whale after a fight of almost eight hours. It was emphasized that he had not landed the whale within the eight-hour working day, he would have given up the contest. Investigation disclosed no whale.

ed to divulge the names of his informants, and the conditions under which he discovered the "plot."

The committee voted late today to summon all persons who participated in a "Virginia dinner" on which Dr. Wirt said he partially based his "brain trust" revolution statements.

The Legislators evinced a determination to question them, but said Wirt himself would not go on the stand again tomorrow as had been planned. "The committee is through with Doctor Wirt," said Chairman Bulwinkle. The next meeting will be a week from today.

Meanwhile, Bulwinkle added, subpoenas will be issued for Bruree, Coyle, Todd, Miss Kneeland, Mary Taylor and Alice Barrows.

Public attention was called to Wirt's statements recently by James Rand, chairman of the Committee of the Nation, who appeared before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee and read a memorandum in which Wirt proposed a plan of the part of certain "brain trusters" to overthrow the established order?" Wirt was asked. "I certainly was a concerted effort to use public funds to show what could be done by a collective effort toward a rich man's homestead Plan.

Wirt assailed the subsistence homestead plan.

"Do you consider it part of a plan to overthrow the established order?" Wirt was asked. "To me it was a concerted effort to use public funds to show what could be done by a collective effort toward a rich man's homestead Plan.

He then related a conversation he had with Wirt last March in Gary with Wirt's lawyer, Eric C. Howes, head of the AAA Consumers' Council, had told him, "We have been put into a Congressional hearing resulting in such a crush of spectators. Forty minutes before the session was scheduled to begin they were flowing into the New House Office Building in a continuous stream, and filling up the spacious caucus room.

More than half of them were women, many of whom had their children with them.

Wirt also said Westervelt said that Dr. Tugwell had asserted he could get $1,000,000 for a special school for "recent college graduates."

"Wirt said Westervelt quoted Dr. Tugwell as saying it would be "easy to inculcate them with ideas about the new planned economy."

Westervelt quit the AAA in December.

Wirt said Westervelt had told Budget Director Douglas about the appearance of the former Senator himself.

"Yes, I am counsel to stay here until the Roman holiday is over," he added.

Wirt Springs Surprise With Reed.

Wirt sprang a surprise when he appeared at the committee room with Reed as his counsel.

When Reed asked for permission to appear as counsel for Wirt, Chairman Bulwinkle ruled that he could not. Reed, smiling, repeated: "I am asking the privilege of appearing for Dr. Wirt."

"If the Senator has in mind that he might participate in the questioning," Bulwinkle said, "I do not believe the proper end of this examination would be served."

"Who was this conversation with?" "Miss Kneeland,"

Walls and Tugwell.

"What else?" "Well, of course, we will realize that it is impossible to remember all that was said during an after-dinner conversation that lasted three hours. But I was told that they were members of a group which followed Rexford Tugwell and Henry Wallace, and that Tugwell felt the prosperity of last summer has been the result of a speculative spree, and that he was opposing a high assessment because it feared speculative litigation to have the levy distributed among various school districts, as in the past, would have a costly result, if successful. Neaf was asked if he had been to the Lake School District, where the tax rate is comparatively low. If the tax rates should be collected in other districts, too, higher rates would apply in some."

The company agreed today to accept an assessment of $22,760 on land and improvements and $18,800 on personal property, a total of $201,560, compared with $207,850 sought by Neaf at first.

CWA WORKERS, HELD OVER, PROTEST WAGE REDUCTION

Group Engaged in Survey of Buildings Objects to New Schedule.

A group of about 500 former CWA workers, re-employed by the St. Louis Work Relief Administration to complete unfinished projects, appointed a committee of six today to protest against a reduction in wages and hours which they said would cut their earnings from $20 a day to $15.12 a week.

The men, employed to make a survey of buildings for tax assessment purposes, had been paid by CWA at the rate of 65 cents an hour for a 30-hour week. They were informed today the new rate would be 63 cents an hour for a 24-hour week. They are to be paid from a bond issue relief fund and the city's share of funds from the State Relief Administration.

The group, stationed on the ninth floor of the Civil Court House, stopped working temporarily, but were persuaded to continue by A. C. Meglitsch, in charge of the office.

"Who made that statement about Roosevelt being in the middle of the stream, unable to do anything but drift with it?" asked Bulwinkle.

McGuinn charged the committee was proceeding in an "un-American way," and was applying "gag rule" to the witness.

Lehbach moved to rescind the decision against Wirt. "I demand that the right for this witness to make a statement in his own way," McGuinn argued. Someone in the crowd cheered.

Reed appealed to the committee, saying Wirt's general statement would require only 10 minutes and would be informative.

After a sharp debate between the Democratic and Republican members of the committee, Wirt was allowed to stand and questioning was stopped by Chairman Bulwinkle.

Before the committee acted on the motion to refuse to let Wirt interpose:

"What reason is there for denying the right to make a full statement? What is there about this case about his witness, that demands an advance hearing of an extraordinary kind?"

"All I ask is a chance to make a full, clear, complete statement giving the statements he quotes and the surroundings under which they were made."

Wirt Drawn Crowds of Spectators.

Not since the appearance of J. P. Morgan before the Senate Banking Committee last year has a Congressional hearing resulted in such a crush of spectators. Forty minutes before the session was scheduled to begin they were flowing into the New House Office Building in a continuous stream, and filling up the spacious caucus room.

More than half of them were women, many of whom had their children with them.

NEW YORK SENATE PASSES BILL FOR CITY OWNERSHIP

Votes 26 to 18 for Lehman's Measure Allowing Municipalities to Buy or Build Power Plants.

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's municipal ownership bill—chief measure in his utility reform program—was passed today by the New York Senate and sent to the Assembly. The vote was 26 to 18, just enough to pass.

The Senate also passed, by a vote of 26 to 16, another bill in the Lehman program. This requires utility companies to pay part of the cost of rate investigations and is intended to discourage long litigation over reductions.

With passage of these two measures, 10 of Gov. Lehman's 11 utility bills have been put through the Senate since publication of the reported Thayer letters two weeks ago.

The ownership bill permits municipalities to build or buy their own power plants. Its passage was attributed by members of the Senate to "chipmunking" by Gov. Lehman since the defeat of the bill on the first vote last Thursday.

Five Democrats who voted against the measure last week came into line after a lengthy party conference.

KILLS DAUGHTER'S SUITOR, ENDS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Raleigh (N.C.) Man, 61, Fires While 25-Year-Old Victim Pleads With Him for Mercy.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 10.—Objection to the courtship of his daughter by Richard Perkinsen, W. L. Collins last night killed the young man with a shotgun, and then ended his own life with the same weapon.

Perkinsen, son of Mrs. Charlotte Storey Perkinsen, Raleigh newspaper writer, was 25 years old. Collins was 61. His daughter, whom Perkinsen courted, is 30.

Miss Collins and her mother, an employee of the State Asylum for the Insane here, said Collins locked them out of the house just before he shot Perkinsen, and threatened to kill them if they tried to enter. From the outside, they said, he could hear the young man pleading with the other.

Edwin C. Jameson Tells of $65,300 Contribution for Use Against Alfred E. Smith.

Prelate, Head of Committee, and Woman Aid, Accused of Failing to Report Full Amount.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 10.—The story of his contribution of $65,300 to aid in defeating Alfred E. Smith for President in 1928 was related today in District of Columbia Supreme Court by Edwin C. Jameson, New York insurance executive. He appeared as a witness in the trial of Bishop James Cannon Jr. and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, charged with conspiracy to violate the Corrupt Practices Act by failing to report receipt of all the money the Southern Methodist leader obtained from Jameson.

Jameson testified that he met Cannon through C. Bascom Slempe, who was secretary to Calvin Coolidge, when he was President. He said Slempe and Cannon came to his office in New York and that immediately "I was very much interested in the campaign."

RALEIGH, N. C., April 10.—Objection to the courtship of his daughter by Richard Perkinsen, W. L. Collins last night killed the young man with a shotgun, and then ended his own life with the same weapon.

Perkinsen, son of Mrs. Charlotte Storey Perkinsen, Raleigh newspaper writer, was 25 years old. Collins was 61. His daughter, whom Perkinsen courted, is 30.

Miss Collins and her mother, an employee of the State Asylum for the Insane here, said Collins locked them out of the house just before he shot Perkinsen, and threatened to kill them if they tried to enter. From the outside, they said, he could hear the young man pleading with the other.

IOWA MURDER INDICTMENTS AGAINST TWO ST. LOUIS MEN

Eddie Tallent and Tony Thompson Named in Killing of Wapello Farmer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WAPELLO, Ia., April 10.—Indictments charging murder, robbery and conspiracy were returned today against Eddie Tallent, Paul Hake and Tony Thompson, accused of the killing last July of Martin W. Wapello, farmer. Tallent and Thompson are St. Louisans and Hake is a farm hand. The indictments replace warrants.

Tallent and Hake were brought here from the Muscatine County jail this afternoon to stand trial. Thompson is in jail in St. Louis on another murder charge.

Thompson, a shipping clerk, 33 years old, is under indictment in St. Louis charged with the murder of John W. Wood, who was slugged and strangled last November in a rooming house at 221 South Broadway. Tallent has served a term in Booneville for burglary, and a prison term for slugging a Booneville guard during an escape.

Frank R. McNinch Testifies.

Earlier, Frank R. McNinch, now chairman of the Federal Power Commission and chairman in 1928 of North Carolina anti-Smith Democrats, told of being informed by W. H. Wood, Charlotte bank president on Nov. 2, 1928 of the receipt by the North Carolina State Committee of $4800 out of the proceeds of a $5000 check from Cannon.

After the election McNinch said Cannon came to see him to discuss what the churchman described as "confusion" in the mind of Wood as to the amount received by the North Carolina committee and that he was advised by counsel that none was necessary.

Robert H. McNeill, attorney for Bishop Cannon, told the jury today that "every dollar" of the unreported part of a 1928 presidential campaign contribution by Jameson, for the Southern Methodist churchman's bid for the presidency.

He referred to a $65,300 contribution made by Jameson for the Southern Methodist churchman's bid for the presidency.

Under defense questioning, McNinch said his committee made no report either to North Carolina or the Federal Government of its receipts and disbursements and that he was advised by counsel that none was necessary.

Under the plan, the first $100,000 of such income would be taxed 30 per cent and all over that figure 40 per cent. The House bill provided a flat rate of 35 per cent.

An amendment by Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, exempting surety companies from the tax was approved. Chairman Harrison of the committee saying he was willing to let it stand.

Senator McKellar (Dem., Tenn.), however, lost two amendments directed at high salaries and bonuses in private industry. An amendment proposed by him to disallow corporations to deduct from gross income salaries and other compensation paid to individuals in excess of $25,000 was voted down without a roll call, as was another with the figure changed to $50,000.

Closing his statement, McNeill told the jury:

"I know that you will come back and say to the defendant, 'Go on, Bishop, in the last years of your life free of any stain, not guilty.'"

McNeill said $14,000 was reported to the clerk of the House and that the remaining $48,000 was spent in Virginia by the "State Anti-Smith Committee," a different organization from the one the Bishop headed. "If the $48,000 had been reported to the House of Representatives, it would have been a lie because it never was spent by the headquarters committee," McNeill contended.

He added that Miss Burroughs was employed primarily by the Anti-Saloon League and that she usually worked but an hour a day in the headquarters office.

SEIZED, ADMITS EXTORTION PLOT AGAINST BREMERS

Jack Neely, Ex-Convict, Arrested After St. Louis Police Deliver Decoy Package at Mission.

A warrant charging Jack Neely, ex-convict and handy man for a gospel mission, with attempting to extort money from the Bremer family of St. Paul, Minn., was issued today by Assistant United States District Attorney Crooks.

Neely, who was arrested early yesterday at his home, 4427A, St. Louis avenue, is said at police headquarters to have admitted, police said, writing letters to Adolph Bremer, St. Paul brewer, and his son, Edward G. Bremer, banker who was kidnapped last Jan. 17 and released 23 days later on payment of $200,000 ransom.

The letters which Neely is said to have admitted writing the Bremers demanded $200,000 at first, and later $25,000. The first letter was sent Jan. 31, after Edward Bremer had been held captive for two weeks.

Denes Connection With Kidnapping

Neely denied any connection with the kidnapping. He said he wrote the letters because he was in the family way, he said, and he wanted to obtain money with which to build a home and set himself up in the sheet metal business.

The warrant was issued on a previous conviction of Neely for violating the Cochran Act, which provides a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000 for mailing letters in an attempt to extort money by threats. Bond for Neely was fixed at $15,000.

City detectives, during the negotiations with the extortionist, posed first as the senior Bremer, then as the son, registering under their names at two St. Louis hotels, and communicating with Neely through personal advertisements addressed to the workhouse here for a minor offense.

Six Detectives at Service.

The investigation took six city detectives last Sunday to the St. Louis Gospel Mission, 4000 Washington boulevard, where they attended services while keeping close watch on a decoy package delivered to the mission in accordance with a demand addressed to the younger Bremer.

The package was placed on a table where mail and packages for those attending the mission may be claimed by those to whom addressed. Recognizing Neely as an ex-convict, the detectives observed him taking quick glances at the package as he handed out hymns and ushered people to their seats.

Neely, it developed later, like-wise recognized Detective Sergeant Charles Shilton, and made no move to claim the package.

When the services were over, he and the others left the building, and was closed for the night.

Tells of Writing 5 Notes.

The detectives had become suspicious of Neely, however, and early the next day arrested him. At first Neely denied knowledge of the extortion plot, but last night signed a statement admitting full responsibility.

The five extortion letters, Neely said, were written and mailed from a mailbox at Newstead and Finney street, a short distance from the young Bremer, still in the hands of his abductors. He did not directly state that it was written by the kidnappers, but contained assurance that Bremer was "safe and well," and asked for $200,000. The others threatened "great danger" to the Bremer family if the money were not provided.

Bremer was released a day after the first letter was turned over to St. Louis police. A detective who had been tailing got into a Ford 8-coupe and drove after him, following him to a nearby car.

The man, as was told Saturday, saw Adams in a quarry with two or three men near the tavern. Finally, he said, Adams got into his coupe, and as he drove away he shouted, "All right, you'll hear from me later," or something to that effect. The man, he said, had been tailing him for some time.

They then stopped at a service station, he said, and the man got out and followed him to a nearby car.

Members of his family said he had been despondent. His widow and six sons survive.

GIRL SHOT, COMPANION CAUGHT AFTER FILLING STATION HOLDUP

Auto Pursued by Victims in Bitch on No. 40 West of Bonnerville.

BONNIEVILLE, Mo., April 10.—A 20-year-old girl with red hair and her companion, who said he was Joseph Kennedy, are in jail following the holdup of a filling station 14 miles west of here on Highway 40, and their capture by station operators and county officers.

The two entered the station about 1:30 a.m. and ordered the operators, Arthur Ballew and Gus Rhodes, to "turn over the cash."

Ballew and Rhodes, armed with a shotgun, started in pursuit when the youth and the girl fled toward Kansas City in an automobile. They fired on the fleeing machine, wounding the girl in the neck. Kennedy was not hit, and the car went into a ditch. He escaped foot but the girl, who says her name is Mae Strand, was captured and turned over to officers. Several hours later Kennedy was apprehended by Sheriff Bradley and two deputies.

While being treated at a hospital for her wounds, the girl fought nurses. She and her companion said they were from Indianapolis, and that the car was stolen in Vandalia, Ill.

PARIS CREATION REPLACES TROUSERS

E. G. LEWIS FREED ON PAROLE, MUST STOP PROMOTIONS

Founder of University City, Sentenced in 1928, Released Once Before but Sent Back in 1931.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TACOMA, Wash., April 10.—Edward G. Lewis, founder of the St. Louis residential suburb of University City, and later promoter of California realty ventures, was paroled today from the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island, in Puget Sound.

Lewis, now 65 years old, was sentenced in 1928 to serve a five-year term for using the mails to defraud, in a personal loan campaign connected with his California real estate promotions. Lewis and his associates were alleged to have obtained $1,000,000 by the loan campaign, which followed the bankruptcy of his California realty companies, with liabilities of $10,000,000.

In 1931 Lewis was paroled, on condition that he refrain from further promotional activities. A year later he was found to be running a real estate publication, the contents of which were held to be a violation of the parole terms. He was sent back to prison.

He has done clerical work, and has performed special tasks of map-making and architectural draftsmanship, in the prison office.

E. G. Lewis flourished in St. Louis in the period before and immediately after the World's Fair in 1904. His Woman's Magazine Building, now the City Hall of University City, was the central object of the skyline in a northwest view from the Exposition grounds in Forest Park. The Egyptian building, which stood until a few years ago, housed the presses used in printing his publications.

He made his publishing business the base of a pyramid of realty and financial structures. In 1905 a fraud order was issued against his People's United States Bank, and his group of companies was placed in receivership. Losses to investors, most of them persons of small means, were about $7,000,000. Attempts of the Government to convict Lewis of mail fraud, on the basis of his St. Louis activities, were unsuccessful.

Lewis served as Mayor of University City until 1912, and then, repudiated almost penniless, he went to the Los Angeles region and founded the town of Atascadero, in San Luis Obispo County, California. He ran up a profit estimated at $4,000,000, then resumed the pyramiding process, and in 1921 was announcing that he would subdivide the 16,000-acre Palos Verdes tract, between Los Angeles and the beach, as "the Acropolis of the Caucasian race." He got subscriptions amounting to $15,000,000 before Federal investigation and bankruptcy came.

Lewis was not viewed, by some severe critics of his undertakings, as a deliberate and purposeful swindler. His shyness and his apparent belief in the permanence of his plans tended to make them even more dangerous to the investing public. The late Nathan Frank of St. Louis, who had large dealings with him, used to say that Lewis had "an Oriental imagination."

NO BIDS FILED FOR CITY JOB UNDER HIGHER PAY ORDINANCE

Contractor Tells Board He Doubts Validity of Tax Bill Told Banks Not to Buy.

Street paving contractors today refused to bid on a $33,000 asphalt job in Carondelet, because of the new city ordinance requiring contractors to pay certain wage schedules, in the main the union scale.

The Board of Public Service met at noon to open bids for reconstruction of Haven street from Leona street to Parkwood subdivision, with asphaltic concrete, a job estimated at $37,950. No bid was received, and Fred L. English, attorney, was present to tell the board why. English said he had advised the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and other banks accustomed to buy special tax bills from contractors at a discount, not to buy tax bills under the present ordinance. Any person assessed for the improvement, English said, might bring a suit to test the validity of the tax bill, and it was his opinion that in such case the bill would be held invalid.

When the ordinance was pending in the Board of Aldermen several months ago, English and Jacob M. Lasby, the latter representing the Chamber of Commerce, appeared against the measure. City Counselor Hay held that it was valid.

Several contractors were at the Board of Public Service meeting, and some of them went to see Maurice Cassidy, labor leader and chairman of the city Efficiency Board, to see whether some agreement could be reached which would permit street construction to proceed.

Court Decides She Must Contribute $100 a Month to Her Parents Temporarily.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—Mary Astor, movie actress, today was ordered to pay her parents, Mrs. Otto Langhanke, $100 a month pending trial of their suit charging her with failure to provide for them. Miss Astor was not in court when Judge Dudley S. Valentine announced his decision.

Langhanke testified yesterday that his daughter had given him only a $30 grocery coupon book in the last eight months, and said he and his wife had been dependent upon neighbors for the necessities of life.

Miss Astor, in her answer to the suit, charged her parents occupied a $200,000 mansion in Bel-Air Hills, and that they refused to take a smaller home. She said she paid them $100 monthly until they mortgaged their residence for $15,000 to install a swimming pool.

JUDGE IN NEW JERSEY
HAD 'GUN ON BENCH'

William B. Harley Tells Committee of Threats and His Defense.

By the Associated Press.
TRENTON, N. J., April 10.—Climaxing his narrative with the statement that because of repeated threats made against him he "carried a gun on the bench," former Judge William B. Harley related to a Legislative Committee yesterday the story of his five-year term as Passaic County jurist.

He told first the details of his alleged payment of $20,000 to former State Comptroller John McCutcheon for his appointment in 1929. He testified that McCutcheon subsequently tried many times to influence his decision in criminal cases and that McCutcheon and former Senator Roy T. Yates had threatened him when he failed to follow orders.

The threats were made, he told the committee designated to investigate alleged corrupt acts of New Jersey civil officers, when he declined to quash indictments against Harry H. Weinberger, Passaic lawyer.

Harley declared that following upon his refusal McCutcheon and Yates met him and McCutcheon said to him, "We know now he won't stand up. We know how to handle him now."

"Yates said," Harley added,
"You know how they handle Tammany Judges. That's what we'll do to you. We'll set the gofers on you."

During his activity in pressing an inquiry into "jury-fixing" in Passaic County, he testified, many threats were made by telephone to the effect "a pineapple (bomb) would be thrown through a window."

He said he did not go out late at night without a police escort, and that he obtained a permit to carry a pistol. "I carried a gun on the bench," he said.

McCutcheon, who recently withdrew from the race for reelection as State Comptroller, following upon a public statement by Harley, several weeks ago, has denied receiving the $25,000.

CANADIAN WILDERNESS BOY JUST A FIBBER, BROTHER SAYS

Salt Lake Man Wet Blankets Youth's Story of Seeing Woman for First Time in 17 Years.

By the Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 10.—A "Canadian Wilderness boy" who went to San Jose with a story of having seen a woman and an automobile in Edmonton, Alta., for the first time in his 17 years was described today as plain Edgar Dunn, 21 years old, a graduate of Salt Lake City high school.

George Dunn and his wife said they had been "honest" for Edgar, Dunn's brother, since he left their home in the middle of last month because he had been "spoken to" for spinning the fantastic yarn.

"Edgar was born in Canada," George said, but his story "was just imagination."

WARRANTS CHARGE ILLEGAL OPERATION OF WAREHOUSE

Three Counts Against Walter Holstein as Operator of Fair Moving & Express Co.

Three warrants against Walter Holstein were issued, yesterday by the Prosecuting Attorney's office, charging him with operating the Fair Moving & Express Co., 4228 Washington boulevard, without a warehouseman's license, without posting the statutory bond of $25,000 and without registering the name with the Secretary of State.

They were issued on complaint of Mrs. Mary Johnson, 3561 Itasca street, that furniture valued by her at $100 had been improperly stored by Holstein in March, 1933, and had been damaged by fire last autumn. Penalties for the offenses charged range from $100 to $500 for each day of continued delinquency.

Holstein, stating that he did not operate as a warehouseman, said the warrants apparently resulted from a misunderstanding. He had held the furniture for packing charges and not for storage, he said.

GAST BREWERY IN OPERATION

Name Omitted From List Published Last Friday.

St. Louis has now 10 breweries in operation. The name of Gast Brewery, Inc., 851 Hornsby avenue, was omitted inadvertently from a list of St. Louis breweries published last Friday, in a news item on the first anniversary of the legalizing of 3.2 per cent beer.

The Gast Brewery obtained its Federal permit Nov. 1 last. Federal tax collections from the St. Louis breweries in the one-year period, as told Friday, were $5,653,108.

Missouri State Employment Service, 1806 Washington avenue, today reported finding 177 jobs last week, 86 of them permanent. The county branch, at 7805 Forsythe boulevard, Clayton, reported 65 placements, most of them temporary.

Applications for employment last week totalled 2118, an increase of about 500 over the previous week, caused largely by the closing of the CWA program. The service now has about 150,000 applications on file.

MOTHER PRETENDED FOR 41 YEARS TO BE DAUGHTER'S SISTER

Two Toured Country in Vaudeville Act—Story Dislosed in Suit.

By the Associated Press.
OURAY, Colo., April 10.—For 41 years Mrs. Charles N. Jones and her daughter tramped in a sister vaudeville act called Maxine and Maxie Marshall, and the daughter never knew that her sister was her mother.

The story came out when the daughter, Mrs. H. E. Williamson, sued for and won the right to administer the estate of a father she had not seen since she was a baby. Mrs. Jones, who was Maxine, took the stand in Mrs. Williamson's suit to become administrator of the large estate of John Donald, pioneer mining man of Ouray. She told how she had left Donald in 1898, taking their daughter with her, and how she pretended they were discrete to prevent Donald from finding them.

Mrs. Jones said that after leaving Donald she worked as a dishwasher and waitress until she developed the vaudeville act into which she and her daughter fitted as sisters. From the time the child was 6 years old, she said, they were known as Maxine and Maxie Marshall. When their vaudeville engagements took them to Alaska in 1905, Mrs. Jones met and married the man whose name she now bears.

Last January she told her daughter of their true relationship.

POLICE TURN HECKLERS OUT OF NAZI MEETING

Douglas Brinkley, Pro-Hitler Speaker, interrupted at German House.

A meeting of St. Louis supporters of the Hitler Government, held last night at German House, 2345 Lafayette avenue, was opened with a request that there be no questioning or interruption, and that anyone wishing to express disapproval or dissent should do so by leaving the hall.

In spite of this, there was so much heckling of the chief speaker that policemen were called in, while the interrupters were ejected. The hecklers, like Mary's lamb, after being turned out, still lingered near, and stood in the doorway as the meeting adjourned. One of the audience, seeing them, shook his fist and denounced them loudly.

Freunde des Neuen Deutschland, or Friends of the New Germany, is the name of the organization, which will hold another meeting next Tuesday night, and will observe Hitler's birthday April 21. The reception, the membership is admitted small, and no announcement as to the number enrolled has been made. Names were guarded, and even the name of the chairman was not made known. About 300 persons were present.

The chief speaker, introduced as Douglas Brinkley, a non-German recent visitor to Germany, told of social reforms and unemployment legislation in that country. He said Germany, though not yet wholly out of the depression, was in a better condition than other nations.

The interruptions came when he spoke of the accession of Hitler, "without a murmur," when his labor union funds had been merged into a national pool, not confiscated; and when he told of the Reichstag fire. "Was you dere, Sharlie?" was the query when the fire was mentioned.

A police car followed the automobile in which the speaker was driven from the hall, after being escorted to the machine at a side door. Printed matter distributed at the hall related to the American Nazi movement.

PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER TO BE MERGED WITH INQUIRER

End of Newspaper's 98-Year Career as Separate Entity; Evening Ledger to Continue.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The Public Ledger and the Inquirer, controlled by the same interests but published as rival morning newspapers for four years, will be consolidated Monday.

Today's Public Ledger announced that the combined newspapers will be published at the Inquirer plant. Thus will end the Public Ledger's 98-year history as an entity, but its offshoot, the Evening Public Ledger, will continue publication at the Ledger plant.

The merger of the Public Ledger and the Inquirer, leaves two morning English language newspapers in the Philadelphia field, the Inquirer and the Record. In the evening field there are three, the Evening Public Ledger, Evening Bulletin and Daily News, a tabloid.

At one time Philadelphia had six morning newspapers—the Inquirer, Record, North American, Press, Public Ledger and Times. In the evening field the Item and Telegraph have disappeared.

80 SIGN PETITION FOR VOTE ON BILL TO PAY DEPOSITORS

145 Required: Proposal Made to Include Closed State Banks in Plan.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Eighty members of the House today had signed the petition to bring before the McLeod bill to pay depositors in closed national banks to the floor for immediate consideration. Signatures of 145 members are required to discharge the committee that has the measure under consideration.

A bill, based on the McLeod bill, and specifically providing relief for all member banks of the Federal Reserve System and non-affiliated state banks, was introduced today by Representative Trux (Rep., Ohio).

"The McLeod bill makes no provision for the depositors of defunct State banks not affiliated with the Federal Reserve System," Trux said. "I personally know of many state banks that would pay out at least 90 cents on the dollar, if given a real chance to liquidate. Both depositors and debtors would be taken care of."

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT FROM POLICE RELIEF FUND

J. J. Uhlinger, Suspended Patrolman, Named in Warrant; Debt Payments Led to Inquiry.

A warrant charging embezzlement by agent was issued by the Circuit Attorney today against John J. Uhlinger, suspended patrolman, who represented the Police Relief Association in Carr Street District.

Last Friday Uhlinger, who had been reported to the department inspecting for debt, was asked for a statement when it was learned that he had made a substantial payment to a loan company. Capt. Andrew Aylward, Carr Street District, reported that the officer admitted he had used $200 from Police Relief Association funds and $50 he had collected from advertising sales for the police circus to pay his bills. He was suspended and placed under bond. Uhlinger, a policeman eight years, lives at 4004 Hydraulic avenue.

SUES BROKERAGE FIRM FOR $45,000 IN CASH, STOCKS

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Groves Demands Return From Harold J. Kattelman and His Company.

Suit for the return of $45,070 in cash and securities was filed in Circuit Court yesterday against Harold J. Kattelman and H. J. Kattelman & Co. by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Groves, former St. Louisan who now lives in Texas.

Mrs. Groves alleges that from 1927 to 1929 the cash and securities "came into the possession of the defendants. She has demanded their return, and has been unable to get them," the petition recites.

H. J. Kattelman & Co. is a brokerage firm with offices in the Central National Bank Building. The company was charged by State Securities Commissioner Ross last November with dealing in non-registered stocks, employing unlicensed salesmen and unduly delaying delivery of securities to investors.

Its license for 1933 was suspended and Ross held a hearing to determine whether to revoke it, but before he had announced his decision the company obtained a State Supreme Court order directing him to take no further action until the court reviewed the facts. The license expired Dec. 31 and the litigation was dropped.

Ross told the Post-Dispatch today that after an inquiry he had issued a new license, for 1934, to the company March 12. The basis of the charges had been technical in nature and not sufficient to keep the concern out of business permanently, Ross related.

"We had every reason to believe they would not go contrary to the law," Ross said. "They furnished a sound financial statement, which we checked. The company was out of business, as far as new accounts were concerned, from November to March 12."

Kattelman's comment on the suit of Mrs. Groves was that "the account was closed out in 1929 showing quite a large debit balance."

NRA REORGANIZED, JOHNSON GIVES AIDS MORE TO DO

Calls Lieut. Col. Lynch From Army Duty to Take General Charge of Office and Sign Codes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The NRA has been reorganized under department heads. One man signs codes, another hires executives, another sees that everybody's efforts run along the same track.

Even policies are separated under the new codes and will be administered by three different men: Administrator Hugh S. Johnson will deal with the biggest companies and the toughest situations.

The change was adopted with reluctance. Johnson often said responsibility for every decision had to be his own.

A man he calls "the most advanced thinker in the army today" will sign codes and other documents, and manage the office. In fact, he will do anything which the Administrator does not absolutely have to do, and which has not been pinned on another member of the new staff.

He is Lieutenant-Colonel George A. Lynch, formerly of Governor's Island, detached from army service for four months at the request of Johnson, a classmate at West Point.

The rest of this staff includes W. Avrell Harriman, now reorganizing the subordinate offices to speed up administration and enforcement; Donald Richberg, who handles legal questions; Leon Henderson, who is in charge of economic problems, and Alvin Brown, who scrutinizes all documents about to be signed and all final decisions of subordinates to see that they follow the policy promulgated.

Two men yet unnamed will be "Assistant Administrator for Policy" and "Director of Enforcement." Like Lynch, these two are expected to be chosen outside present NRA personnel.

George Buckley, who is in charge of the division handling newspaper, printing and publishing codes, also is a member of the administrative staff and will devote part of his time to assisting William V. Lawton, in charge of the press section of NRA.

The "personal staff" includes the standard: first month: Col. Robert W. Lee, assistant administrator for industry; Edward M. McGrady, labor assistant; Miss M. Robinson, and Kilbourne Johnson, son of West Point.

The enforcement officer will have charge of the continuing compilation division under William H. Davis, where adjustment of violations is sought, and the new litigation division, which is to handle court cases and prosecutions.

The rest of this staff includes W. TOWN BOARD OF PACIFIC
REFUSES TO INSTALL MAYOR

Also Declines to Seat Two Aldermen, Holding They Owed Back Taxes When Elected.

The Town Board of Pacific last night refused to install the Mayor and two Aldermen chosen in last week's election, holding they were ineligible because on the day of the election each of them owed the city back taxes.

The board consists of the Mayor and four Aldermen, and three of its members, defeated in the election, were to have been replaced last night by the new men.

Henry C. Williams, chosen Mayor by the voters over the incumbent, C. F. Mayle, paid $28.50 in taxes on his home last Thursday, two days after the election. Collector Gross said Sam Erb, elected Alderman in the Second Ward over Edward Zitzman, owed $25 for a filling station license in 1931, and that William Ryan, successful in the First Ward over William Wolf, had paid no city taxes on his home for several years, owing $127.60.

Gross said the board's action in refusing to seat the new members was taken on advice of the City Attorney, James Booth. The board will hold a public hearing on the matter next Tuesday.

They follow the policy promulgated.

Two men yet unnamed will be "Assistant Administrator for Policy" and "Director of Enforcement." Like Lynch, these two are expected to be chosen outside present NRA personnel.

George Buckley, who is in charge of the division handling newspaper, printing and publishing codes, also is a member of the administrative staff and will devote part of his time to assisting William V. Lawton, in charge of the press section of NRA.

The "personal staff" includes the standard: first month: Col. Robert W. Lee, assistant administrator for industry; Edward M. McGrady, labor assistant; Miss M. Robinson, and Kilbourne Johnson, son of West Point.

The rest of this staff includes W. Avrell Harriman, now reorganizing the subordinate offices to speed up administration and enforcement; Donald Richberg, who handles legal questions; Leon Henderson, who is in charge of economic problems, and Alvin Brown, who scrutinizes all documents about to be signed and all final decisions of subordinates to see that they follow the policy promulgated.

ST. LOUIS CONVENTION BUREAU
CELEBRATES 25-YEAR GROWTH

Three Former Presidents Speak at Luncheon Preliminary to Fund Campaign.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the St. Louis Convention, Publicity and Tourist Bureau was celebrated at a luncheon yesterday at Hotel Statler, attended by three former presidents of the bureau who recounted its activities since the organization was established on April 9, 1909.

Lyman T. Hay, first president and one of the founders of the bureau, told how the organization was started in 1909 with a capitalization of only $1000 but that even with this meager capital, the bureau brought 12 conventions to St. Louis during the first year of its existence.

Isaac A. Hedges, another former head of the bureau, also reviewed the bureau's early history and Clarence H. King, who served as president from 1931 to 1933 outlined the organization's activities during recent years.

WOODRING HELD BLAMELESS IN ARMY REFRIGERATOR INQUIRY

House Subcommittee Says, However, Specifications Should Not Have Barred Any Bidders.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Chairman May (Dem., Ky.) of a House Military Affairs subcommittee today reported its finding that "there is no evidence amounting to a suspicion" that Harry H. Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, or anybody connected with him, has been guilty of any ulterior conduct in connection with proposed purchase of refrigerators for the army.

The report dealt with the complaint of the Starr Co. of Richmond, Ind., that specifications for bids on mechanical refrigerators for the army discriminated against that company.

While exonerating the officials from blame, May said the subcommittee "feels, however, that the War Department should not have put out specifications the effect of which would preclude any bidder or bidders from being permitted to participate in the bidding."

ONE AUTO STRIKE SETTLED; ANOTHER ONE THREATENED

5600 Return to Work at Parts Plant but Trouble Arises in Tool and Die Industry.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, April 10.—A strike that threw 23,600 automobile workers out of their jobs has been settled, but mediators are trying to prevent a walkout threatened in the tool and die industry.

William Collins, American Federation of Labor leader, announced last night that striking employees of the Motor Products Corporation had agreed to return to work this morning at a 10 per cent increase in wages. This dispute involved 1000 strikers and 4600 others laid off because of the walkout.

In line with the agreement, the Motor Products employees filed back to their benches this morning. There was no disorder.

Edward F. McGrady, representative of NRA Administrator Johnson, played a prominent part in the settlement.

The strike in the Motor Products plant, which makes automobile parts, had thrown 18,000 men out of work in the Hudson factory yesterday because of inability to get materials. The Hudson factory was expected to resume work late today or tomorrow.

Tool and Die Dispute.

The threatened strike of tool and die makers who want a 20 per cent wage increase became the next job for the peacemakers. The Mechanics' Educational Society of America may call these workers out on Thursday in Detroit. Pontiac and Flint if the job shop in which the men are employed refuse to meet the demand.

Union estimates of the number of men who may be directly involved by the strike run as high as 18,000. Matthew S. Smith, general secretary of the union, said its effect would be felt throughout the automobile industry.

The Mechanics' Educational Society is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It has questioned the right of the Automobile Labor Board, of which Dr. Leo Wolman is the neutral member, to intervene in its wage dispute with the manufacturers.

Although a tool and die strike might not tip the industry immediately, it was pointed out in the trade that eventually its effects might be more widespread. It was a strike of such workers that heralded production on new models last fall.

Conferences today were expected to determine whether this dispute would reach the walkout stage. General Secretary Smith said that besides the dispute in the job shops he was negotiating with five major units of the automobile industry, including the Fisher Body Corporation, for increased wages and shorter hours.

"The deadline for all," he said, "will come simultaneously."

Special Agreement Sought.

As for the Motor Products Corporation strike, the only apparent hitch in the resumption of full activity was the insistence of the union headed by Smith that its 200 men involved in that dispute be made the subject of a special agreement.

The Motor Products Corporation settlement was ratified by a cheering gathering of workers last night. Richard L. Byrd, labor's representative to the Automobile Labor Board; McGrady of NRA and Collier of the Federation of Labor had urged the workers to take such action.

Earlier in the evening, Dr. Wolman withdrew from a conference at his headquarters, leaving McGrady in charge.

The terms of settlement, besides the 10 per cent increase, included:

An increase of the minimum hourly rate from 40 to 50 cents for men and from 35 to 44 cents for women.

Recognition of seniority rights. Provision for adjustment of piece-rate disputes.

Nash Won't Operate Plant Where Men Are on Strike.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 10.—Nash Motor Co. executives assured strike leaders today that they would not attempt to operate the Kenosha (Wis.) plant in defiance of the Automobile Workers' Union local there. Two thousand men are on strike at the Kenosha factory.

E. H. McCarty, president of the company, also assured the strikers the company would respect the wishes of the 1500 miners who strike at the Racine plant who have decided to co-operate with their fellow workers until the Milwaukee and Kenosha unions reach a settlement of their wage demands.

In the recent poll the Kenosha union men and the 1200 workers at the Seaman Body Corporation plant on strike here voted unanimously to reject the agreement drafted by the National Automobile Labor Board while the Racine workers approved the settlement.

6 STATE OFFICIALS TO DIRECT BOND ISSUE, SPENDING

Gov. Park's Proposal for Bi-Partisan Management Elective Officers Will Control Funds.

BY BOYD F. CARROLL,
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 10.—Expenditure of the proceeds of a proposed State bond issue of $10,000,000 for rehabilitation of the state eleemosynary and penal institutions, which will be submitted to voters of the state in a special election on May 15, will be controlled by a State Building Commission made up of six elective State officials, under an act passed by the recent special session of the Legislature.

This commission will have control of allotment of the funds to the various eleemosynary and penal institutions, the preparation of the plans and awarding of contracts. It also will control any revision of the tentative plans upon which application was made to the Federal Public Works Administration for a loan of $10,000,000 of Federal funds, and an outright grant of 30 per cent of the cost of materials and labor estimated to be at least $3,000,000.

Members of the commission under the Legislative act, are Governor Park, who will be ex officio chairman; Attorney-General McKittrick, Secretary of State Brown, State Auditor Smith, State Treasurer Nacy and State Superintendent of Schools Lee. All are Democrats. If any of these officials go out of office, they would be replaced on the commission by their elect successors.

Proposes Advisory Group.

Governor Park today said that if the bond issue is approved in the election, he would take up with the other board members the matter of appointing an advisory committee of architects, engineers and others, to advise the commission in administration of the program.

The Governor said: "Federal Public Works Administration regulations as to employment, hours and wages for PWA projects would govern, but that he did not know to what extent the Public Works Administration would expect to supervise contracts, specifications and constructions.

When Gov. Park's recommendation for a $15,000,000 bond issue for reconstruction, modernizing and enlarging the eleemosynary and penal institutions, to be supplemented by a Federal grant, was submitted to the special session of the Legislature last October, it was accompanied by a bill setting up the administrative machinery.

The Legislature cut the bond proposal to $10,000,000 and materially altered the administrative plan. The original administrative bill proposed a bipartisan commission of four members, to be appointed by the Governor. One of the members was required to be an architect "of high standing." Each of these commissioners was to furnish a surety bond of $50,000. The commission members were to be paid necessary expenses and $20 a day for each day they actually were engaged in commission business, but not to exceed 10 days a month.

How Bill Was Changed.

The Senate Committee on Eleemosynary Institutions held the bill until Dec. 22, when it was reported out with committee amendments, which were adopted by the Senate, changing the administrative control by substituting the six elective State officials for the appointive commission. The amendments provided no compensation for the commission members, but did provide for payment of any necessary expenses incurred. The requirement of bond by commission members was eliminated. The act, as amended, was passed by the Senate and House.

The measure prohibits the commission members or any employee of the commission, from having any interest, directly or indirectly, in the contracts for work in the program, or in the furnishing of supplies.

The act provides that any commission member having a direct or indirect interest in any of the contracts, or who accepts any benefit, by way of a commission, rebate, bonus division of profits, or otherwise, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction be subject to a fine of not more than $2000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, and forfeiture of his commission membership. It does not provide forfeiture of his elective office upon such conviction.

Four of Six Must Approve.

The commission is authorized to make a survey of the eleemosynary and penal institutions, to determine the needs to allot the funds for improvement of the institutions, to hold competitive architectural contests in preparation of the plans, if it desires, to award contracts for the work, and to buy or condemn necessary land for sites. LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mrs. BERTHA GLASER DIES IN HOSPITAL WHERE SON IS

Clothing Manufacturer Operated On An Hour After Mother's Death.

Mrs. Bertha Glaser, 5755 Pershing avenue, died yesterday at Jewish Hospital, an hour before her son, Milton, also in the hospital, was operated on for appendicitis.

Mrs. Glaser, who was 60 years old, had been ill two weeks. She was the widow of Louis Glaser, who was in the clothing business.

Milton Glaser is secretary-treasurer of Glaser Brothers, Inc., 1312 Washington avenue, clothing manufacturer.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow from the Mayer Casket establishment, 4356 Lindell boulevard, with burial in Mount Sinai Cemetery. Besides Milton, two other sons, Adolf and William, survive.

NORTH SIDE GROUP OUT IN OPPOSITION TO BOND ISSUES

First Organized Attack Here on $28,100,000 State and City Flotation to Be Voted on May 15.

A campaign committee has been appointed by the North St. Louis Business Men's Association to oppose the issuance of $28,100,000 in State, city and school bonds, which will be voted upon at a special election May 15. The committee is circulating several thousand leaflets expressing the opposition.

This is the first instance of organized opposition to the proposals. The State is seeking a $10,000,000 bond issue for eleemosynary and penal institution buildings, the city $16,100,000 for various public improvements and the Board of Education $2,000,000 for school buildings. The State has applied for a $3,400,000 grant from the PWA in connection with the proposed bonds, while the city has asked for $4,754,500 and the School Board $600,000.

Members of the committee are: Albert L. Schmidt, lawyer, chairman; Edward P. Grunfelder, J. F. O'Reilly, Eugene Stifel, Elmer W. Prange, A. S. Merremeyer and William J. Studt. Warremeyer is a former member of the Board of Education; Studt, a Republican, is a former Alderman, and Stifel has been a leader of opposition to special taxes for street widenings.

The association declares, in the leaflet, signed by Walter H. Voss, president, that none of the city bond items is essential in view of economic conditions. It asserts that the city has not enough money in its sinking fund to meet fully requirements for principal and interest on the 1923 bonds and other previous issues, and that "impairment" of the sinking fund is estimated in excess of $1,000,000.

Comptroller Nolte's estimate that an increase in the city sinking fund tax rate this year from 39 to 80 cents on the $100 valuation is necessary is cited by the association, which asserts that any new bond issues, for the State, city or schools, would mean an increase in the tax rate.

Mayor Dickmann favors use of liquor and other new taxes to carry the proposed city bonds. He and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen have announced they would not vote in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to increase the tax rate. Nolte is the third member of this board.

The Board of Education proposes to apply the PWA grant to pay interest and principal on its bond for the next several years, to avoid a tax for their support.

The State bond issue is not justified in view of the condition of State finances, the association asserts. It says the State ended last year with a deficit of $1,500,000 and has to borrow heavily from banks to meet expenses.

A bond issue for schools is entirely unnecessary and would be a breach of faith, the association avers, referring to the recent approval by the people of the 85-cent tax rate for general school purposes. Schmidt explained that many voters supported the tax rate in the Board of Education to continue the policy of building schools out of current revenue.

"A spending spree has its day of reckoning," the leaflet declares.

"We are opposed tooth and nail to any and all bond issues," Schmidt adds.

SAYS HUSBAND PLAGIARIZED LOVE POEMS, WINS ALIMONY

Wife Asserts: Amorous Lines Were Clippings—Doesn't Care to Be His Spiritual Spouse.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 10.—If Herbert Gehrke of Springfield, a railroad conductor, wants to convince his wife he is really in love with her, he must write some original poems.

Gehrke appeared in court Monday to contest the petition for temporary alimony filed by Mrs. Leon Gehrke, who lives here. He said he wanted to return to her, and Attorney Norman Becker interpolated: "He is sincere about it. Here are some poems he sent his wife telling her that he loves her."

"He can't fool me with those," Mrs. Gehrke interrupted. "Had he written them himself I would have known his heart was in it, but they are clipped from newspapers. I don't want to be his spiritual wife."

Judge Joseph Sahath awarded her $60 a month temporary alimony and suggested they try a reconciliation.

Details of the Saturday evening meeting have not been made public but Mayor Thornton announced that the city received a reduction of $1700 per annum in the rates for the street lighting system, effective Dec. 1, 1933. A new contract between the light company and city was not presented but the terms of

A previous election resulted in a victory for the Illinois Light and

FORT MYERS, Fla., April 10.—Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, widow of the inventor, helped pull three persons from their overturned automobile Saturday and administered first aid from a kit in her own car, it was disclosed yesterday.

Mrs. W. W. Larimer and her son and daughter were riding in the automobile, which turned over twice. After treating their injuries Mrs. Edison took them home in her own car, asking that nothing be said about her part in the incident.

CITY DEFICIT CUT
MILLION IN YEAR,
NOW IS $142,000

Fiscal Period of 1933-3
Ends—It Began With Finances $1,379,000 Back.

THIS WAS LARGEST
IN ST. LOUIS HISTORY

Heavy Collection of Bad
Taxes and Dismissal
900 Employees Aided Reduction.

A deficit of about $142,000 in municipal funds was announced today by Comptroller Nolte, for the fiscal year 1933-34, which ended today. This is a reduction of more than $1,379,000 in the deficit of a year ago, which was $1,379,529, the largest in the city's history.

This year's deficit is less than one per cent of the total municipal expenditures for 1933-34, which were recently estimated at $20,206,792. In the previous year, the $1,379,529 deficit was 6.91 per cent of expenditures.

The deficit three years ago, however, through Mayor Miller's second administration, was $96,842. The deficit was increased to $651,800 in 1932, and to $1,379,529 last year, cause of the unusual size of last year's deficit, its elimination or reduction was a major financial problem of the first year of Mayor Diemann's administration. The last reduction was aided by the unusually large collections of bad taxes, and by dismissal of about 900 city employees.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment today decided that the city's contribution to the St. Louis Convention, Publicity and Tourism Bureau in the coming year should be $10,000, the same as last year.

Another decision of the Board of Estimate was to engage Richard Bull, former Associate City Collector, at a $500 fee, to represent the city in the suit filed by Mullany Heirs. The heirs sued aside the will of Bryan Mullany, and divert the $1,000,000 Mullany Emigrant Relief Fund to its present use. Bull represents the city in the case on his behalf in Circuit Court four years when the decision was in his favor. The heirs have appealed. Because of his familiarity with the case, he is to handle it as though he is a Republican.

Legislatures of seven states have been in session this year, rejected or failed to ratify the labor amendment, it pointed in a statement issued yesterday by the National Committee for Protection of Child, Family, School Church.

Since Jan. 1, ratification bills have been defeated in Massachusetts, Virginia and South Carolina. Legislatures in Mississippi and Kansas permitted the bill to die. Kentucky Senate, by action of the Rules Committee, In New York and Rhode Island, where legislatures still are in session, fixation resolutions remain in committee.

The Delaware Legislature convened March 6, and the New Jersey Legislature met yesterday session in Louisiana starts Monday and a special session in Vermont planned for this month. Four states ratified the child amendment last year.

SILVER-FARM RELIEF BILL PASSES SENATE COMM

Measure Carries Thomas Amendment to Nationalize Silver.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Senate Agriculture Committee today reported favorably the silver-farm relief bill carrying Thomas amendment for nationalization of the metal.

The amendment, by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), provides for unlimited purchase of silver until it reaches a gold price of $1.29 an ounce or until the commodity price level is attained. The bill provides for the acceptance of silver from other countries at a premium of 25 per cent over the world price in exchange for American surplus crops. As said the committee voted unanimously.

Nationalizing the metal measure would take place just as it did with the gold. It would be taken over under proposal at the highest price preceding day. Silver certificates would be issued in exchange.

CITY DEFICIT CUT MILLION IN YEAR, NOW IS $142,000

Fiscal Period of 1933-34 Ends—It Began With Finances $1,379,000 Behind.

THIS WAS LARGEST IN ST. LOUIS HISTORY

Heavy Collection of Back Taxes and Dismissal of 900 Employees Aided in Reduction.

A deficit of about $142,000 in municipal funds was announced today by Comptroller Nolte, for the fiscal year 1933-34, which ended today. This is a reduction of more than $1,237,000 in the deficit of a year ago, which was $1,379,529, the largest in the city's history.

This year's deficit is less than 1 per cent of the total of municipal expenditures for 1933-34, which was recently estimated at $20,206,762. For the previous year, the $1,379,000 deficit was 6.91 per cent of expenditures.

The deficit three years ago, half-way through Mayor Miller's second administration, was $95,842. This deficit was increased to $651,800 in 1932 and to $1,379,529 last year. Because of the unusual size of last year's deficit, its elimination or reduction was a major financial problem of the first year of Mayor Dickmann's administration. Another decision of the Board of Estimate was to engage Richard S. Bull, former Associate City Counselor, at a $500 fee, to represent the city in the suit filed by the Mullinphy heirs. The heirs sued to set aside the will of Bryan Mullinphy, and divert the $1,000,000 Mullinphy Emergency Relief Fund from its present use. SILVER-FARM RELIEF BILL PASSES SENATE COMMITTEE

Measure Carries Thomas Amendment to Nationalize Silver.

By the Associated Press WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Senate Agriculture Committee today reported favorably the Dies silver-farm relief bill carrying the Thomas amendment for nationalization of the metal.

The amendment, by Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, provides for unlimited purchase of the metal until it reaches a gold price of $1.29 an ounce or until the 1926 commodity price level is attained. The Dies bill provides for the acceptance of silver from other nations at a premium of 25 per cent over the world price in exchange for American surplus crops. Thomas said the committee vote was unanimous.

Nationalizing the metal means the Government would take possession, just as it did with the gold supply. It would be taken over, under the proposal, at the highest price of the preceding day. Silver certificates would be issued in exchange.

LEADERS DOUBT WAGNER BILL CAN PASS AT THIS SESSION

New York Senator, However, Thinks Chance Is Good Following Johnson's OK on Proposal.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Democratic leaders admitted privately today that chances for enacting the controversial Wagner-Labor Board bill at this session were slim.

Senator Wagner (Dem.), New York, author of the measure which would outlaw employer-dominated company unions, insisted, nevertheless, that the legislation had a fine chance of enactment. He was particularly pleased by what he said was an OK placed on the bill by Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, before Johnson's departure yesterday for the South to confer with President Roosevelt.

In a letter saying "a series of misadventures" had prevented his appearance at hearings on the bill, Johnson said he wished Wagner "every success."

Agree to Accept Changes. Wagner said he already had expressed willingness to make changes that would conform with Johnson's ideas.

Several members of the Senate Labor Committee, recalling the heavy criticism of the measure by industrialists, said they thought many changes would be necessary to obtain committee approval of the bill.

The text of Johnson's letter to Wagner follows:

"A series of misadventures has prevented me from appearing before your committee, and lest the hearings are concluded before my return from the South, I want to send you this letter to record the experience we have had here.

"As you may, or may not, know,

I recommended the N. L. B. to the President, and you as chairman. We would and must have a supreme court of industrial relations, in my opinion, the Government should not favor any particular form of organization. An informed labor organization should settle the question of form for itself.

On the other hand, while a company might initiate a form of 'company union,' its activity should stop there. It should neither finance, sponsor or direct what the men do.

The control of employment is so potent a force that there could be no freedom of choice under such a scheme."

Advocates Impartial Board.

"I don't want to quote any person without consulting them, but I believe Miss Perkins would agree that my scheme of advisory representation in the formulation of codes does not apply to your concept of a supreme court for labor.

The English have gone through all this preliminary work and have found that the whole board should be impartial.

"I think that you have done a wonderful job, and I wish you every success with your bill, which is only the culmination of your achievements in the interest of people who work, not the least of which is the Recovery Act itself."

NEWTON BAKER HEADS ARMY AVIATION INQUIRY

Other Civilians on Committee Include Clarence D. Chamberlain and Jimmie Doolittle.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in Woodrow Wilson's War Cabinet, accepted appointment today as chairman of the Army's Air Corps Investigating Committee, on which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh declined to serve.

Secretary of War Dern, in announcing acceptances of five other civilians to aid army Generals in the inquiry, said the first meeting of the committee would be held here late this week or early next. Dern said the civilians, in addition to Baker, who had accepted places on the committee, were: Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. George W. Lewis, director of the National Advisory Committee of Aeronautics; Clarence D. Chamberlain, noted Trans-Atlantic flyer; Maj. James H. Doolittle, widely known flyer and aeronautical engineer; and Edgar S. Gorrell, president Stutz Motor Car Co.

The army members of the committee are headed by Major-General Hugh A. Drum, Assistant Chief of Staff, who will serve as vice-chairman.

The way the Army Air Corps carried the mail and the fatalities connected with this emergency activity will be studied by the committee, but the survey is intended to be of the widest possible scope.

LAYING OF FEDERAL BUILDING CORNERSTONE ON APRIL 28

Ceremony Was Originally Set for Saturday; Farley, Other U. S. Officials to Attend.

In addition to Postmaster-General Farley, representatives of the Government at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Federal Building, April 28, will be James H. Moyle, Commissioner of Customs, and L. W. Robert Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Postmaster Jackson was notified of this yesterday by Congressman Conlan in a telegram from Washington.

These figures were issued today by the Commerce Department in tabulation by countries, which showed the totals of exports and imports for the month at $162,805,000 and $125,292,000, and the totals for the first two months of the year at $355,028,000 and $254,068,000, compared with $222,104,000 and $179,754,000 for the first two months of 1933.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS VOTE DOWN MOVE TO END POLITICS IN HOLC

Reject Senate Amendment Backed By President, 231 to 115; Bill Goes to Conference.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The House Democratic majority today defeated a Republican move for adoption of the Norris amendment barring political appointees from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. The vote was 231 to 115.

The House then rejected all Senate amendments to the bill, increasing $2,000,000 in home loan bonds and sent it to conference.

The Senate approved the Norris amendment, which has the personal support of President Roosevelt.

SPANISH EXPEDITION TO IFNI

France Insists That African Territory, Before Moors, Be Occupied.

MADRID, April 10.—Spain will occupy Ifni, a territory on the west coast of Africa, at the insistence of the French, it was said by Government sources. Pressure from Paris was denied officially, however.

A detachment of 1200 Spanish-Moorish troops sailed yesterday from Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, on a gunboat for Ifni, where Moors have been battling the French in nearby Morocco are said to be hiding.

Although Spain has claimed the territory for years, natives resisted several expeditions during the monarchy as well as one sent two years ago by the young republic.

VIENNA-PARIS EXPRESS WRECKED; RAIL-TAKEN OUT

Firemen and Postal Employees Killed, 20 Passengers Hurt — Osterling, Austria.

VIENNA, April 10.—A fireman and a postal employee were killed and 20 passengers injured when the International Express, bound from Vienna to Paris, was wrecked today at Osterling, between Linz, capital of Upper Austria, and Wels.

Investigators said a rail apparently had been removed by wreckers, derailing the train. They said they had no clews. No foreigners were reported among the injured.

ROME DELEGATES WORKING ON WHEAT PRICE AGREEMENT

Experts Said to Have Decided on Four Points of Export Plan.

ROME, April 10.—Eight experts sat today to agree on a minimum wheat export price plan to lift the price of the grain. It was learned reliably that the international delegates were agreed on the following points:

1. Exporters are to have the choice of whether to make sales on a basis of quotations based on cost, insurance and freight to importing markets, or on a basis of freight on board from ports of export.

2. Wheat flour, whole wheat, meal and semolina are to be supervised by the Government in a manner similar to that employed on wheat and grain export.

3. The minimum price of flour is to be drawn up on a percentage basis with reference to corresponding types; wheat patent flour, to be priced at about 145 per cent of the minimum price of the corresponding type of wheat; bakers or clears at 135 per cent; low grade at 125 per cent; and other grades, including whole wheat flour or meal, at 120 per cent.

4. Governments are to agree not to participate in any transaction of a commercial nature, such as barter accords or deals resulting from frozen credit, which might kill or hinder the system of minimum wheat export prices.

OUTSTANDING ADVOCATE OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP WINS

Daniel C. Rogers Elected Mayor of Fayette, Mo., Defeating Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTE, Mo., April 10.—Daniel C. Rogers, attorney, was elected Mayor of Fayette, defeating Rector E. Meyer, who ran for re-election, by 855 to 526. As he did not have the support of the local political machine, Rogers' majority was probably for close races for the mayorality have been the rule here.

Rogers several years ago made a point fight established a precedent in Missouri on purchasing Diesel power equipment for municipal power plants on the basis of a savings contract without incurring a debt upon the city. He has also been identified with municipal ownership matters.

He states that he has been consulted by officials of other cities in the past several months relating to an initiative campaign for putting the public utility bills providing for bonds to be paid from savings on the ballot at the November election. These bills were defeated at the last session of the Legislature.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Exports to Europe in February increased to $82,182,000, as compared with the previous February's $51,093,000, and were nearly double the total of imports, $44,756,000, as compared with $26,790,000 for the same period of 1933.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Notes On The New Assessment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I am the new city assessment, real estate as of June 1, 1933, is valued at $390,896,350, while the personal wealth of the city's population is placed at $75,638,460. Thus, it appears that no one in the city on June 1, 1933, was worth anything except those who held title to real estate, those who owned used automobiles and those who possessed used household goods.

According to sworn statements of taxpayers, there were only 16 persons in St. Louis who, on June 1, 1933, could have drawn personal checks in excess of $25,000, and there was not a single person who could have drawn his check for as much as $60,000. I cannot but ask: Who, on that date, had the more than $500,000 represented by St. Louis bank deposits of that date: the more than a billion dollars represented by the notes, mortgages and deeds of trust recorded by the City Recorder's office; the more than a billion dollars represented by accounts receivable owed to various creditors: as of that date?

Uncle Sam finds out where the money is. Every schoolboy has a well-grounded idea as to where it is and who has it. The assessors, armed with all the authority of this sovereign State seem unable to find it. They find the owners of real estate, of used cars, of used household goods, but they seem unable to find and to tax the great bulk of the city's intangible wealth.

Thanks to Mr. Darst.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I READ that Director of Public Welfare Joseph Darst plans immediately to begin work on the removal of the baseball and soccer fields at the corner of Kingshighway boulevard and Euclid avenue, and to beautify this plot of ground. This corner always has presented a most unsightly appearance; it has been noisy and has been a definite traffic hazard.

Director Darst has happily solved a problem. He will be thanked by many thousands of people who love parks and playgrounds for this very constructive step which he has taken further to develop Forest Park.

Public Schools and Democracy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I READ with interest your editorial respecting public support of parochial schools. The reply which appeared in your column devoted to such letters was written by one far more able than I. A very vital phase of the matter, however, was omitted.

In one of my public school classes, 10 different Protestant churches are represented, while both the Catholic and Jewish faiths have several representatives among the 35 pupils. Native-born and first generation of European nationalities mingle with old American stock in more than one of my classes. Children who are driven to school by indulgent parents spending expensive automobiles vote into class leadership others from humble homes.

Those things teach tolerance. That is democracy. That is America!

The misunderstandings, the hatreds and the efforts to further selfish interests which have caused the wars of the past and the rumbplings of the present tend to be wiped out in such a classroom, in such an institution, in such a nation!

Not that I have any quarrel with parochial schools, except I think that those who can justify the existence of such schools should carry the burden of their existence. Obviously, both types of institutions cannot be publicly supported. It is but to decide which serves the broader purpose. One tends to segregate the other to intermingle.

Admittedly the Founding Fathers were interested first in the welfare of the democracy. To create the public school system was to strengthen the cause of democracy.

Cash in St. Louis Banks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
"OBSERVER" in this column recently referred to a few banks in St. Louis as having $100,000,000 in cash on hand. The Federal Reserve statement of June 30, 1933, shows cash in vaults of all the banks in St. Louis, $300,000.

The total cash in vaults for all the banks of the United States from the same report is only $227,000,000, barely equal to the entire deposits of one of the largest St. Louis banks.

Congress Is Rocking the Boat.

ABOUT a year ago, the country was on the verge of ruin. Congress admitted its inability to do anything about it. Happily, there were still enough brains in Congress to turn the job over to our President. The President, thoroughly convinced that he is accepted the awful burden, and is doing a splendid job of putting the country on its feet.

Now comes Congress, showing every indication of a popular desire to rock the boat. With the threatening waves of disaster receding, many members of Congress are preparing to lap up the cream of the crop. Let us be sure there are many good and able men in Congress, but numerous new members should remember that they are there, not because of their own merits, but because of our President's strength pulling them through.

DEMOCRACY.

Pierion, Ill.

GOOD-BY TO THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

Abraham Lincoln's aphorism that a nation cannot live half slave and half free often has been "re-written." Henry Pratt Fairchild, professor of sociology at New York University, is the latest to apply that verity to present conditions. "A country," he says, "cannot live half in the nineteenth century and half in the twentieth."

This paraphrase will be received, we imagine, much as Lincoln's verity was received. It will be unreservedly accepted at once by some of the people; it will be accepted, with reservations prompted by personal interest, by some of the people; but ultimately it will be accepted by all of the people.

"Ye shall know the truth." Common sense, it seems to us, tells us this is the truth. Economically, the nineteenth century is as dead as Sheba's buried city, whose ghostly ruins in their desert tomb have, reputedly, been gazed upon by French aviators. And, because twentieth century conditions have inferred the economic philosophy and doctrines and individual methods and privileges and morals, if you will, of the nineteenth century, does it not behoove us to face that fact squarely and contrive a philosophy and practice and mores which the present and its necessities demand?

That would seem to be the part of wisdom. Anyhow, we won't get anywhere by lamenting the passing of the old days and the old ways and denouncing the realists who see things as they are and are honestly trying to find a practical modus vivendi.

The country first met Prof. Fairchild in 1922, when he published his book, "Profits or Prosperity?" According to his analysis two years ago, "The choice lay definitely between profits for the few and prosperity for all." More things have happened since 1932 than were imagined possible or can be digested; but everything of economic moment that has occurred, so it seems to us, vindicates Prof. Fairchild's thesis. It does more. The choice no longer exists. The option has expired. The day of unrestrained profits is gone. Isolated wealth, surrounded by poverty, relieved here and there by a respectable but, as we now know, an insecure scale of maintenance, is definitely on the way out.

That kind of economy simply will not function in a machine age.

What America is trying to do, what it must do, is to work out an economy that will meet the requirements. The responsibility for this task is, as Prof. Fairchild says, primarily in the President's hands. Mr. Roosevelt's "ideas of what constitutes genuine reconstruction are," in Prof. Fairchild's opinion, "about the most important ideas in the world at present."

Precisely what those ideas are, Prof. Fairchild does not know. The President, himself, may not know; that is, he may not have charted a course to an objective from which there will be no deviation. Like any other leader in an epochal period of transition, he cannot escape the pressure and thrust of events. But the objective, of course, is clearly understood. It is, in a word, economic security for everybody, with as large a measure of individual initiative, opportunity and reward as is compatible with that ideal.

Precisely what those ideas are, Prof. Fairchild thinks, the President's political liberalism and economic conservatism, if such it be, must come to grips. The question mark attached to Mr. Roosevelt's "economic conservatism" is well placed. The genuine political liberal is necessarily an economic liberal. Politics and economics are no longer mere contemporaries, meeting occasionally at this party, or engaging in that controversy, and then pleasantly or stiffly bidding each other adieu. Politics and economics are now as inseparable as the Great Twin Brethren who, as Macaulay's ballad told us, fought and saved Rome in the day of deadly peril and could always be counted on to fight and win at the fatal turn.

Macaulay, the historian, commands a larger space than Macaulay the poet. And were he here today, he would in his capacity as historian assure us, perhaps, that politics and economics, liberal, enlightened, endowed with vision and purpose, and the courage that knows no quitting, will save the day for America and civilization.

Anyhow, we are saying good-by to the nineteenth century.

ERNEST R. KROEGER.

Seldom does a citizen possess the esteem and affection of a community as did Ernest R. Kroeger, who died last week. In his long career as organist, pianist, composer and teacher of music, Mr. Kroeger gave unstintingly of his fine mind and great energy.

Thousands of St. Louisans were fortunate enough to enjoy the intimate relation with him that a pupil bears to a teacher. Many other thousands knew him through his lectures and recitals. His famous talks on the appreciation of music enriched the lives of all who heard them. Mr. Kroeger might have been a famous concert pianist, but he chose instead to give his time and talents to the community in which he was born, and which he loved passionately. He was a powerful cultural force in St. Louis. He represented the very highest type of citizenship. We express our sorrow at his death.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE.

The American people should not forget those Representatives and Senators who stood out against the stampede when the President's veto was overridden. Twenty-nine thousand World War veterans, whose claims for pensions had been denied by special boards, were returned to the rolls.

Six of Missouri's 13 Representatives voted to sustain the veto. They were Representatives Cochran, Duncan, Milligan, Romjue, Ruffin and Williams. Representative Claiborne was listed as not voting, and the others either voted or were on record to override. Missourians will need to derive their satisfaction from the votes of less than half of their delegation in the lower house, since the Senate line-up revealed Senator Clark and Patterson in the same sorry boat against the President.

Illinois can be proud of the vote of its Senators, both of whom are veterans of the Spanish-American War, and as such might have been inclined to favor the veterans. Neither yielded to the pressure. Senator Disterich was one of the 27 who upheld the President, while Senator Lewis, who was away from Washington, was paired in favor of sustaining the veto. Four Illinois House Democrats supported the President. Speaker Baliney and Representatives Brennan, Sabath and Kocinskiowski.

Which party presented the sorrier spectacle is difficult to determine. Thirty Democratic Senators and 210 Democratic Representatives deserted the President. Only 27 Democratic Senators and but 70 Democ-ocratic Representatives voted to uphold him. La- mentable as this is, it does not seem any more disgraceful than the Republican exhibition. Not a single Republican Senator—not even one of the Republican progressives—voted to sustain the veto. Only two Republican Representatives—Lucas and Tinkham, both of Massachusetts—cast party allegiance aside to vote their convictions.

They honored themselves, their State and their party, and that is something the great majority of Democrats did not do.

PEDESTRIANS AND TRAFFIC SAFETY.

We agree with the correspondent who pointed out on this page Sunday that pedestrians are at fault in many auto accidents, and urged that a larger part of the safety campaign be directed toward them. The pertinence of this point may be judged from the following table, analyzing motor accidents in 1933 in which pedestrians were killed. This is reproduced from a publication of the Travelers Insurance Co., which has made valuable studies of motor accidents in this country:

Type of Accident	Killed	Pct.
Crossing at intersection:
With signal	190	1.41
Against signal	810	6.03
No signal	1650	12.28
Diagonally	360	2.68
Crossing between intersections	3320	24.70
Waiting for or getting on or off street car	70	.52
Getting on or off other vehicles	270	2.01
Standing on safety isle	30	.22
Children playing in street	1680	12.50
Workers in roadway	320	2.46
Riding or hitching on vehicle	290	2.16
Coming from behind parked car	1460	10.88
Walking on rural highway	2250	16.74
Not on roadway	230	1.71
Miscellaneous	500	3.72
Total	13,440	100.00

Of 29,900 persons killed in auto accidents last year, 13,440 were pedestrians. In at least six of the classifications (crossing the street against signal, crossing diagonally, crossing between intersections, children playing in the street, riding or hitching on vehicle and coming from behind parked car), it may be said that the victims were at fault, though the drivers may have been guilty of contributory negligence. These total 7920 cases, or more than half of pedestrian fatalities. In other categories, as in walking on rural highways and crossing at corners where there are no signals, many of the victims may also have been partly at fault. It is obvious from this table that among the greatest dangers are: (1) to cross between intersections; (2) to walk on a rural highway; (3) to emerge into traffic from behind a parked car; (4) children's use of the streets for play.

As to our correspondent's suggestion that pedestrians be arrested for engaging in careless practices, this has not proved practical in instances where it has been tried. The careless motorist endangers other persons, and prosecuting him is a valid part of safety efforts. The careless pedestrian, however, usually endangers only himself. Warnings and education in safety are the best means of awakening the pedestrian to his hazards. It would be helpful if every pedestrian (and that includes 99 per cent of the population, on occasion) would study the table printed here and heed the warnings it carries.

SUBSISTENCE HOMESTEADS FOR MINERS.

The selection of Franklin County, Ill., as the site of a Federal subsistence homestead project, is admirable. Containing Benton, West Frankfort, Zeigler, Christopher and other communities noted for mining, Franklin County lies in the heart of Southern Illinois' coal fields and by virtue of that affords an excellent opportunity for the PWA to show what subsistence homesteads can do for workers whose employment is seasonal.

According to Secretary Ickes' announcement, about 275 homesteads of varying sizes up to 10 acres will be made available for purchase through small monthly payments over a period of years. Each homestead will contain a well-built house and outbuildings, in whose construction and arrangement sanitation will be a prime consideration. The plan is to enable miners and certain other semi-skilled workers to better their economic condition by raising vegetables, fruits, poultry and some livestock for consumption and use by their families.

Obviously, the establishment of one homestead project will not solve the problem presented by seasonal work in an industry over-supplied with labor. It will, however, show private enterprise what can be done. Miners need not dwell huddled together without garden plots in unsightly towns. Indeed, with present production methods affording them so much leisure, it is only natural that more of them should live where they can provide for themselves.

THE SCHOOL TAX RATE.

Just one question will be before the Board of Education tonight in determining whether the 1934 school tax rate for general purposes shall be $3 or 5 cents on the $100 valuation. That question will be how much money is needed by the board to operate the schools efficiently in the coming fiscal year of 1934-35 and leave a sufficient cash balance to start the succeeding fiscal year.

Recently the people authorized the School Board to continue for the next four years the maximum rate of 85 cents. The board may set a lower rate if it feels it can get along with less. It was made clear before the tax election that the board would have to resume the levy this year of a separate and additional tax of 2 cents on the $100 for its sinking fund. There is no breach of confidence in the proposal of the majority of the board's Finance Committee to charge the 85-cent general rate and a 2-cent sinking fund rate this year.

During the depression, the board has effected great economies without disrupting the educational system. It is difficult to see how it could put into force further economies of much extent without a second reduction of salaries—which is utterly out of keeping with the trend of the times. The tentative school budget, published in last Saturday's Post-Dispatch, shows clearly that the board will be lucky, with an 85-cent general rate, to finish the coming fiscal year with enough funds to carry it over in the next year until taxes come due.

Last year the board waived its right to a sinking fund tax at the behest of the city administration, and it voluntarily waived this tax in 1932. In order to retire its outstanding bonds without undue burden, it must resume this small tax this year. The board should not permit a hue and cry to mislead it into starving the schools financially. A 2-cent difference in the tax rate is of no moment to most taxpayers.

"HAVE THE STOCK EXCHANGES BEEN REGULATED YET?"

Sidney Hillman on the Wagner Bill

Depression was caused by low wages, says head of clothing workers' union at Senate hearing; asserts goal of NRA, to create employment, cannot be reached unless Section 7A is enforced, and that Wagner bill "gives substance to the law"; thinks most employers are ready to co-operate; assails company unions as based on coercion.

From the Testimony of Sidney B. Hillman Before the Senate Labor Committee.

MRS. HILLMAN: I am wholeheartedly in support of the Wagner bill, because this bill, when enacted into law, will give Section 7A, in my judgment, is the very heart of the whole Recovery Act. The purpose of the Recovery Act is to increase the purchasing power and give a more equal distribution of income among the large masses of the people.

I am fully aware that in my judgment, if not the whole reason for the depression, at least the major part of it is caused by the low level of wages that has prevailed even during the period of unemployment.

I would like to go on record and say to you, Mr. Chairman, that in my experience with the men in the industry, the largest number are anxious to co-operate with the Government. They want a constructive way of dealing with the problems of industry.

Chairman: You mean the employers?

Mr. Hillman: The employers. They all recognize that the old method must mean ultimate bankruptcy for all of them. But the trouble is that a small group can always create a situation where the people who would like to do the decent thing are helpless.

We are getting today a great number of complaints from a number of employees that the codes are not properly enforced, and because of that it creates again unfair competition.

Chairman: At what time did the bill become effective?

Mr. Hillman: No, this is since the NRA.

BROWNS AND CARDS ARRIVE HOME FROM SOUTH, TONIGHT FLYERS

Hallahan Will Oppose Weaver in Opener of City Series, Tomorrow

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ON BOARD THE BASEBALL SPECIAL, April 10.—Tuned up to concert pitch, Rogers Hornsby and his Browns are on their way home to open the spring series with the Cardinals tomorrow. In the same train are other Pullmans bearing Frankie Frisch and his men, feeling just as fit as the Browns.

Hornsby, who had to revamp the club of last year materially, is well satisfied with the showing of his new men and thinks St. Louis fans will take a liking to several players whom they will be seeing in a Brownie uniform for the first time.

Clift Is Standout.

One of these is Harland Clift, a youngster who has hardly reached his maturity and whose rather frail appearance inspired the fear that he might not be able to hit the ball. Instead, he has come through with some fine and timely hitting, including a couple of home runs, one of which was made off Carl Hubbell with the bases filled. Clift wound up his spring training success yesterday at Jacksonville where he hit a pair of singles to help the Browns beat the Dodgers, 6 to 5, and gave Hornsby an even break in the four-game series with the Dodgers.

Alon Strange, new shortstop, is another who has pleased Hornsby by his work in training camp games. In fact, the opening lineup of the Browns against the Cardinals tomorrow will disclose five factors who were not with the Browns last year—Clift at third, Strange at short, Puccinelli or Pepper in the outfield, Weaver on the pitching mound and probably Grube behind the bat.

Big Jim Weaver, who has not yet let out his pitching power to the fullest, will start the game according to Hornsby, and on what he has shown thus far will give the Cardinals plenty to look at. Weaver has not been able to bear down and show all his stuff thus far.

Far from being discouraged by the rating the experts have given the Browns—they picked the team to finish last—Hornsby believes his men have a good chance to reach first division.

"There are five clubs in the league that have little or nothing on the Browns," Hornsby says. "If we get any sort of decent breaks we can finish in first division just as easily as can any of the other clubs."

The Browns' manager has changed his lineup in recent days, putting Harland Clift into the lead-off man's position and dropping Alan Strange from second to seventh place in batting order, with West second and Puccinelli, Burns and Campbell following.

UNIVERSITY CITY OUT TO REGAIN RELAY LAURELS

University City High School will attempt to regain its leadership in the fifth annual Maplewood Relays this Friday and Saturday at Maplewood High School's field.

University City's Indians won the relay last year, the event was held completely outclassing the local schools entered in the meet.

The third year, with the entry of out-of-town schools, the Indians were held to a tie for first place.

The reason for that was the presence of outstanding interscholastic athletes, including five track stars who became national interscholastic champions.

Tie for Second.

Last year the Indians were weak and dropped again, this time to a tie for second place. And Coach Henry Schenner's team is not used to finishing lower than second. So, this year, Indians had to gain back a lead—a lead which team assures us the St. Louis district that out-of-town teams will have to be unusually strong to take the title.

The outstanding athlete of the Indians is Jim Knight, bespectacled runner, high jumper, javelin thrower, and sprinter. Knight won the State indoor 60-yard low hurdles, and ran on the winning 880-yard relay team.

Last week, Knight won the high and low hurdles, the javelin throw, and the high jump in a quadrangular meet with Kirkwood, Clayton, and Normandy.

In addition to Knight, the Indians have two fine middle distance men in Johnny Ryan and Eddie Baldwin, winners of the two best of the 480-yard runs at the State meet. These two, along with Harry Busman and Kenny, a junior in track, make up the best two-mile relay team that has been in the St. Louis District for a long time.

Two broad jumpers who consistently clear over 19 feet are also on the team. They are Ernest Ogle, another junior, and Ken Lautweiler.

In the Weights.

Dick Yore and Russell Meredith in the weights give the Indians two point scorers who can usually place in any meet.

Last week, in spite of the absence of several injured athletes, Coach Schenner used 46 men in the quadrangular meet, indicating the size of his team.

It's a well-balanced team and should again bring University City to a high position.

TONIGHT FLYERS OPPOSE GREYHOUNDS IN THIRD TITLE GAME TONIGHT

EXPERTS FAVOR GIANTS TO WIN PENNANT, WITH CHICAGO SECOND

ST. LOUIS TRAILS KANSAS CITY IN PLAY-OFF FOR HOCKEY HONORS

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 10.—Major league baseball experts, who agree the Giants would finish no higher than sixth in last year's National League race, have done the same thing this spring by picking them to repeat their team's triumph.

It remains to be seen just how Bill Terry's club will react to the starting vote of confidence. The performances so far along the exhibition route have not been all that becoming to world champions but it will be time enough to use the yardstick on the Giants when the games begin to count the standing of the clubs.

Meanwhile, the ballots in the eighth annual Associated Press pennant poll testify that the Chicago Cubs are the team most likely to cast the Giants from the top another of those dramatic five-horse races for which John Arne Heyder's circuit is famous.

Cardinals Picked by 13.
Of the 97 writers and editors contributing to the poll's consensus, pick the Giants to repeat, while named the Cubs to finish on top.

The St. Louis Cardinals have backers for their hopes of taking first money and the Pittsburgh Pirates only nine but in the consensus the Bucs land third place. The secondary remaining vote for first place goes to Boston's Braves, who face an uphill job unless they can replace Rabbit Maranville's second base successfully.

The vote for the Cubs was surprisingly heavy and was not entirely confined to the western wing of the baseball writers' association of America. The preference for the Bruins over the Pines was based on the popularity of the experts that Chuck Klein, the National League batting king, will add more strength to Chicago's lineups than the acquisition of Pitcher Bill Lucas will mean to Pittsburgh.

The Braves finished fourth notch ahead of the Cardinals in year but the consensus favors reversal of this order for 1934.

Otherwise the experts see a change in prospect. The Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds are consigned to finish the way they did last year—sixth, seventh and eighth. The vote among these three is unusually close, however, indicating a deal in the second division won't be a shock to the watchers of the press box.

The "box score" on the National League poll, showing the number of votes for each club in each position:

TEAM	1	2	3	4	5	6

ACADEMY A. C. MOVES INTO NEW QUARTERS

MOTORS LEAD BRISK RALLY PACE SLOWER LATE IN DAY

Equities Respond to Settlement of Motor Strike at Detroit, Steel Output and Shipment Spurts and 'Change Bill News.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 10.—Stocks pointed upward today under the stimulus of the Detroit motor strike settlement, bright industrial news, and hopes that the Exchange Control Bill will not be too severe. Many issues rallied 1 to around a point in a brief buying rush and held most of their gains. The close was firm. Transfer approximated 1,500,000 shares.

In addition to adjustment of some of the labor difficulties, Wall street was cheered by a spurt in steel output and figures on March automobile production. Motor shares were the first to rally, but with the exception of the utilities, other groups were not strong following. Bonds again established "new high." Most commodities, including silver, rubber and copper, exhibited strength. Spot cotton advanced 1/4 of a cent a pound. Grains did a little better and cotton recovered. Sterling was somewhat reactionary, but the gold currencies were steady.

Automotive stocks up a point or more included Chrysler, General, Hudson and Motor Products. Gainers of around 2 included Continental, Newbern, Allied Chemical and McKeepsport. Tilled. Among others, up fractionally to about point, were American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Case, Kennebec, Alcoa, Howe Sound,森士, Roe-buck, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, National Distillers, Armour preferred, J. C. Penny and U.S. Industrial Alcohol.

Wheat ended with advances of 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel. Corn was up 1/4 to 1/2 cent and oats were unchanged to 1/4 higher. Barley was unchanged and rye firmsed 1/2 to 1/4 cent. At 11:30, Wm. Wm. Wheat gained 1/2 to 1/4 cent a bushel. Cotton finished with gains of 50 to 75 cents a bale.

At mid-afternoon the pound was down 1/4 cents at $5.16 1/2 and French francs were unchanged at 60 cents.

Dutch guilders were off 1/4 of a cent at 67.67 cents and Swiss francs were slightly lower at 32.38 cents.

Belgian belgas were up 1/4 cent.

Canadian dollars were unchanged at 100.18 cents.

News of the Day.

The future of most of the utilities was not unexpected in view of the New York State Senate's action in reversing its previous stand by passing the Municipal Ownership bill, key measure in Gov. Lehman's utility reform program.

The March trend in the steel industry was shown by the report of the U. S. Steel Corp. on its March shipments of finished products. The month's total was 588,209 tons compared with 385,500 tons in February and 256,783 in the same month last year. Shipments in March, 1932, amounted to 388,579 tons and in March, 1931, they were up to 307,261 tons.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in the same time, estimated March production by its members would total 262,156 cars and trucks compared with 175,386 in February, an increase of 49 per cent, and 34,983 in March last year, a gain of 208 per cent. All important motor producers, with the exception of Ford, are members of the chamber. The number of orders it was said, was the largest since September, 1929. It was also stated that unfilled orders were exceptionally large.

Bar silver again was advanced 1/4 of a cent an ounce to 46 cents. This equaled the high mark since 1930. The price of lead was also raised 15 points to 42 cents a pound.

Week's Financial Summary.

Although the sharp jump in steel operations was attributed partly to the efforts of consumers to "beat the gun" on higher prices, the indicated current rate of 47.4 per cent is higher than generally expected. One inference was that many consumers are insisting upon immediate delivery of tonnages originally ordered for shipment later.

There was nothing especially striking in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly circulation statement showing, as of April 1, increases of $127,000,000 in net demand deposits, $181,000,000 in the amount due from banks and $364,000,000 in loans and investments. Loans on securities advanced $55,000,000 and "all other" loans were up $21,000,000.

LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER

Lead was firm at $4.15 per 100 pounds in St. Louis, but zinc was steady at $4.40 per 100 pounds.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Copper steady; spot and nearby 55.87. Iron ore, unchanged.

Lead firm at $4.15. Zinc steady; East St. Louis, 4.15. Copper steady; East St. Louis, spot and future.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The St. Joeseph Lead Co. took 100 tons of mines, at $3.00 per hundred pounds St. Louis.

Two Babies.

Presidential Fish.

We Buy Gold.

Nice, New Money? Hardly.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1934.)

In Troy, N. Y., a girl baby is born weighing 24 ounces, one pound and a half. It is in a hospital incubator and may live. What a blessing for mothers if such births could come regularly. The serpent and the apple prevented it and put in Genesis the ominous words addressed to Eve: "In sorrow thou shalt bring forth children."

Nature is kinder to the female grizzly bear. She weighs, sometimes, 1,000 pounds, and in the darkness of her hibernating period her baby is born weighing sometimes less than the 24-ounce baby of Troy.

Five months old Robert—no need to mention his name since he is gone—was not wanted after he arrived in this world. His mother married a young man and told him Robert was not his son.

The mother left with the baby, and a little later the child was taken from the river, dead. The mother confessed: "I threw my baby overboard. I had no way of making a living. It was being raised without a daddy, so I drowned it."

Local courts will decide what ought to be done about her. A higher court will decide what to do about the baby. It was baptized eight days before it was drowned, water sprinkled on its face, and this, in the opinion of various religions, will save the baby from perdition or, at least, from an uncomfortable residence in "limbo" in the world to come. The 18-year-old mother asked to see her dead baby and officials decided that she might leave the jail for that purpose.

President Roosevelt, humorously protesting against his son's statement "Father isn't much of a fisherman," was cruising up the coast of Florida yesterday, to meet reporters, about 50 miles southeast of Miami, near North Cat Cay. Theoretically, the President wants to prove to newspaper men that he is a good fisherman.

The wise old reporters believe that the actual idea is to let reporters see for themselves that there is nothing in the foolish rumor that serious illness has caused the President to prolong his fishing vacation.

May 1, according to the President's proclamation, will be "Child Health day." The best way to promote child health is to encourage abundant distribution of the right kinds of food for children, particularly good, fresh milk, butter, eggs, fresh vegetables, fruits, at reasonable prices.

To pay farmers to cut down production of such things, and force up prices, may be good for prosperity, but it will not be good for the health of children.

Since Uncle Sam went off of the gold basis and began buying gold at any price he had to pay he has brought across the water about $700,000,000 worth of new gold, an increase in our gold reserve greater than the total gold ownership of any other nation on earth, except France, England and Spain.

This makes Europe feel dubious about "selling dollars short." To go off the gold, and then own nearly all of it, is confusing. We might get back "on."

A bill will be introduced in Congress to print $2,500,000,000 worth of nice, new money, a mere trifling in these happy, spending days, the money to be used clearing off mortgages on farms.

Congressman Lemke of North Carolina says:

"The measure would give farmers now paying 10% per cent on their debts a chance to refinance them for 3 per cent."

The British Government compelled Irish landlords to sell to peasants at reasonable prices and financed the purchasing for those peasants on a 3 per cent basis over nearly half a century. Under the Free State the Irish have stopped paying and keep the land.

You will have statesmen saying: "No, we will NOT print $2,500,000,000 worth of nice, new money, but we WILL print $2,500,000,000 worth of interest-bearing bonds, and pay in the end $5,000,000,000 to clear them off $2,500,000,000 for the farmers, $2,500,000,000 in interest to finance."

That is the American plan. Guess who invented and is maintaining it?

While thousands of automobiles were traveling on Sunday on New York's scenic highway along the Hudson near West Point, a landslide, bringing down huge rocks, killed three in their automobiles, injuring three others.

Thousands of miles of such highways.

Etiquette for Introductions
And Greetings

When Meeting a Group of People a Single Salutation Is Enough.

By Emily Post

My Dear Mrs. Post:
WHEN a stranger is introduced to a roomful of others, must she acknowledge each introduction separately or merely smile and every so often say, "How d'you do?" Saying this after each name has been mentioned sounds as wearisome as trying to explain the procedure of "zig-zag eating."

Answer: One
"How do you do?" is enough. After that just smile and bow slightly to each, and perhaps say "How d'you do" once or twice with your lips.

EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: If one of our club members brings a friend to meeting who is a stranger to all of us, is it better to turn over to the hostess who in turn introduces her to the others, or is this the responsibility of the friend who brings her?

Answer: The responsibility is that of the member who brings the visitor.

My Dear Mrs. Post: My father's new wife is only seven years my senior. How do I introduce her to my friends? We look more like sisters than mother and stepdaughter, and I always feel as though I were inflicting premature old age on her to call her mother.

Answer: Introduce her as "Mrs.
Jones." If further explanation is necessary, say, "My father's wife."

Dear Mrs. Post: At our joint parties, do my husband and I advance toward the door together to shake hands with our guests? This creates a humorous picture, but it seems that he ought to be an important factor in greeting friends at a party which is equally his.
How is this receiving really supposed to be done?

Answer: At a formal party you stand at the door and greet each of your guests as they enter the room. Your husband stands nearby.
Not directly beside you, but near enough to greet the new arrivals as soon as they have been welcomed by you. At an informal party, it may well be that he greets them first. That is, you go forward as soon as you are aware that anyone has entered the room. But he may perhaps be nearer them than you—in which case he does not wait for you to welcome them first. Or he may be looking after an earlier arrival and is nowhere near when you receive other arrivals. In this case, he greets them as soon as he sees them. In the reverse picture, you do the same.

A Reader Seeks Information
About Attendants and Other Matters Concerning Weddings

By Martha Carr

My dear Mrs. Carr:
AM to be married soon and am thinking of making it an anniversary of my mother's wedding day. It is my grandparents' and great-grandparents' anniversary also. Would it be possible for my mother and father to act as our attendants, or wouldn't this be proper? We are to have a small church wedding.

Should a girl buy the silver for the future household? Is this among the things a girl is to have in her trousseau chest? If it is initialized, should it be with her maiden initials or those of her future husband? It seems a little selfish to have only my initials.

Is a girl supposed to have a small bank account to help buy some of the knicknacks after she is married?

Nothing. "Heartbroken" can replace the mutual love of the truly mated. You may do "the sensible thing" and do with half portions in the future; or you may do the thing your heart prompts and find life full and contented.

This latter even without children.
(We have none.) When his condition permits you can always open your home to unfortunate youngsters whom the Children's Aid will supply and so find satisfaction for your mother love. (I did.)

But before you decide, be sure.
You must be sure that never, either in your mind or his, must arise the thought that you have made a sacrifice.

ONE WHO WAS HEARTBROKEN.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I am in your column that one of your correspondents desired
a general Spanish prayer; I am attaching hereto copy of these prayers and hope you have the address of the people who desired them so you may forward same.

I may I tell you that I am finding your column, expressing as it does the thoughts and problems of so many different types of people?
I have heard so many people quote you; really interested in your opinions. S. L.

Please accept my thanks for your kindness and trouble in sending the copies of these prayers in Spanish.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

THOUGHT you might be able to help me. I have a family of four girls and one boy. We were out of work for quite a while and then my husband was in the CWA. I make all my children's clothes, but they are getting older now and it is so hard for me to make them without patterns. I thought perhaps some of your readers might have some patterns of girls' dresses they were through with and that they wouldn't use any more. I would appreciate it if they would have them for me. And I would also be glad to have some quilt pieces or old clothing to make over.

Possibly my little booklet, now being printed, "Guide for the Bride," would help you. Send self-addressed and stamped envelope and I will mail it to you.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

WOULD you please tell me when the Municipal Opera tryout for the chorus takes place? Where shall I apply for the job and what are the requirements. My father is out of work and I am putting a lot of faith in getting a position.

M. H.

The office of the Municipal Theater Association is located in the Arcade Building. You can find out from this office when these tryouts take place. Generally, I believe it is sometime in April.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

OUR column included a letter from "Lonely Brunette," who requested comments from men on the question of coloring the hair. My own experience, which includes four years in college and quite a few dates, has led me to the conclusion that neither coloring style nor the length has much to do with a girl's popularity.

When I look around for someone to ask for a date, my only demands are that the girl be of good disposition, have a pretty face; though being a good bridge player and a good bridge player may be more important—according to the circumstances.
But I do not remember being prompted to ask a girl for a date because of the color of her hair. In fact, I sometimes have to remind myself to notice when I see her, whether her hair is bobbed or long; hence I can say that the matter is not as important to the average boy as it is to the average girl.

Dye your hair, if you like it better yourself, but don't put too much faith in becoming popular because of it. ADMIRER OF WOMEN.

Dear Martha Carr:

TEN years ago the man to whom I was pledged was told he would probably not live more than six months. He is here in the room with me now in far better condition physically than he was then. If you asked him why, he would reply that his wife's care is largely responsible. If you asked me I should say that answered prayer, the helpful effect of happiness, and his own co-operation as a patient were the important factors.

The 10 years have not always been easy. Many times I have felt that I could not again endure the tearing worry which is mine when symptoms reappear. But Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature.

Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an address and stamp envelope for personal reply.

These 10 years have given me the richest experience that any woman might desire. The compensations of his illness have come closer to each other by far than many others who, apparently, are better situated.

A 12-Year-Old Girl Who Is an Artist, Writer, Athlete and a Fine Scholar

By Fay Proflet

SABELLE POPKINS, 12-year-old artist and writer, explodes the adage, "jack of all trades and master of none," in that everything Isabelle does she does well. And Isabelle does plenty. In addition to being a "scholar" at Delmar-Hammond School, she spends part of her time entering and winning contests. She has won every contest that she has ever entered and has a record of merit that would put one of more mature years to shame.

She has won eight art contests,
a scholarship for piano lessons by broadcasting her own poems, prizes for scholarship at Sunday School, first award from the Missouri Girls' Standard Athletic Association for running, a medal as the winner in a swimming contest and numerous poetry prizes.

Isabelle Popkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Popkins, 6605 Kingsbury place, and despite her remarkable talent she has none of the tiresome traits of the child prodigy. She takes her honors modestly and leads the usual life of a school girl, except that Isabelle finds some time for the many interesting things she does in addition to her school work, music, cooking and small tasks about her home.

Isabelle began drawing pictures since she could hold a pencil. At the age of five she laid aside her nursery drawings and surprised her parents by making a colored crayon mural of a circus. At six she was the youngest pupil ever on the rolls at the St. Louis School of Fine Arts of Washington University. Her portfolio of work done at this time is interesting because even at this early age her drawings showed remarkable originality, which, with an acute sense of humor, are the outstanding qualities of her work.

Scrap Books Are Diversions That
Amuse Children

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church

ONE of the favorite rainy day amusements for children in past generations was making scrapbooks. Sometimes even now one finds among the treasures of a modern household the scrap-book made by a great-aunt or grandmother when she was a little girl. One actual example is full of amber pictures and was put together some 50 years ago by a lonely little girl who was fond of cats. The book has been a source of pleasure to her great-nieces and nephews and probably will continue to amuse future generations.

One of the best and cheapest kinds of scrap-books is made of cloth—unbleached muslin, or canvas will do—cut into strips 10 by 28 inches. The strips are pinned on the edges and laid one on another, the whole pile folded across and held together like pages of a book by a few large stitches down the center.

The pictures can be collected anywhere—from magazines, advertisements, Christmas and Easter cards, and even from rotogravure sections of the Sunday papers.

One child may choose all animals, another may decide to go in for landscapes, a third for scenes from other lands. Some will quite indiscriminately take anything that is offered and often produce interesting results. One very delightful book was illustrated with bits of pictures put together to make new groups.

There are opportunities for innumerable variations and for occasions during many long days of convalescence or enforced confinement. If the supply of scrap-books threatens to overcrowd the house, an added interest can be given to the pastime by making them for the children's ward of a hospital or for some invalid child in the neighborhood.

THE ICE PATRIARCH—Wilson Chambers of River Bend, has made his annual birthday trip to Welland, Ontario, a distance of 10 miles on ice skates, for the 75th time, this year. He still uses the skates presented to him on his 9th birthday. The trip requires about 90 minutes, but most of that time is spent greeting old friends, who come down to cheer the sturdy old "father of the ice." TOMORROW: A SHOT IN THE DARK.

Once you use Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, you will never be satisfied to use anything else. It leaves your teeth feeling much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed, and your breath so sweet and pure. Dr. Lyon's is not only doubly efficient, but it costs only half as much to use. Even a small package lasts twice as long as a tube of tooth paste. Lasts Longer—Costs Less

Free from all grit or pumice, Dr. Lyon's cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel, as years of constant use have shown.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth really CLEAN and clean—firm, healthy gums, freedom from pyorrhea and the least possible tooth decay.

There seems to be an alarming increase in the roaring every time the President cracks the whip.

Any day, now, we expect to read an announcement that one of the President's advisory secretaries has been replaced by Clyde Beatty.

Good old General Johnson! Whenever he issues a cordial invitation to one and all to step up and criticize, he always adds: "But you know what I think of critics!"

Dear, Sympathetic Aunt Bella:

Don't you think the policy of having a large and strong navy is a splendid one? Don't you think we ought to have more battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines?

Thoughtful.

Ans.—You bet, Sister. We ought to have gobs and gobs.

Dry Fishing Is Exciting

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

QUIITE a number of fish—the President can catch without going near the water.

There is the electric eel. Equipped with both alternating and direct current. Always swimming against public opinion. Goes upstream near waterfalls where it spawns huge blocks of public utility stock.

The pilot fish. Not only swims in schools but gets into colleges. Acts as pathfinder for the corporation shark.

The lobby clam. This barnacle attaches itself to corridors and only opens up when it is sure nobody is listening.

The budget barracuda. Voracious and insatiable. Can eat more than its own weight.

The lone filibusterer. Ain't a whale and ain't a minnow. All we know of its habits is that it spouts long and loud and then takes a terrible dive.

THREE FLYERS RESCUE 62 OF 90ADRIFT ON ARCTIC FLOE

Russians Prepare to Take Off Other 28—Group of Bering Ice Since Feb. 13 When Steamer Cheliuskin Sank.

WOMEN, CHILDREN SAVED PREVIOUSLY

Two Planes Make Trip From Cape Van Karem Siberia, for Marooned Men—Third, Damaged in Landing, Returns.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, April 11.—The three Russian flyers, Kaminin, Molokov and Slepnev, flying three planes succeeded last night and today in rescuing 62 men of a party of 90 stranded on an ice floe in Bering Sea.

Twenty-eight still remain on the floe. Preparations were being made today to take them off.

The party on the floe was the Wrangel Island expedition of Pro-Otto Schmidt. They took refuge on the ice when their vessel, the Cheliuskin, was crushed in the ice Feb. 13. For weeks flyers have been trying to reach the floe. Ten women and two children in the party were taken off plane some time ago.

Twenty-two men were taken last night by the three Russian flyers and flown to Cape Van Karem, Siberia. Early today Kaminin and Molokov picked up more. They brought off 29 more this afternoon. Kaminin and Molokov made round-trip flight from Cape Van Karem. Slepnev already was at the icy camp of the castaways with a plane he had damaged slightly in landing several days ago.

The probability that Pro-Otto Schmidt was among those rescued was suggested in earlier dispatches which said he had contracted an illness resembling pneumonia. The rescue commission had ordered him to place himself among the first of those remaining to be saved. He had listed himself as the last to leave.

Advices from Cape Van Karem said he would be flown to Nome, Alaska, for treatment. His health proved to be serious. Dispatches failed to mention him as among those rescued. Neither did they identify any those taken off the ice.

The approximate position of the castaways was 350 miles north of Nome, Alaska, whence a Russian relief expedition departed from Cape Van Karem last week.

At one time it was feared Kaminin, Molokov and a third flyer had met disaster in a rescue flight. They were missing for 10 hours. They turned up safely, having been forced down by weather.

Relief flights were made under the most hazardous conditions, returning on the wings proving the greatest menace.

When the Cheliuskin was wrecked the party managed to salvage supplies from the ship, including mud and clothing. They constructed a wireless sending set and kept almost constant touch with the relief commission here.
